Forest Junction Youth Killed as Car Overturns

15 Deaths Reported On State Highways During Weekend

(Picture on Page B11)

Richard Mathiebe 20, Forest Junction, was killed about 12:45 this morning when his car missed a curve on Highway 10 one mile east of Forest Junction.

His death and 14 other weekend traffic fatalities raised the state's highway toll for the year to 481, compared with 507 on this date last year. Mathiebe was thrown about 130 feet from the car after it skidded and rolled 400 feet off the road. Milton Dallesky, Brillion, discovered the accident.

It was the third highway death in Calumet county this year.

State Fatalities

Roger A. Sylvester, 20, Madison, was killed early Sunday when his car and another auto collided head on at the crest of a hill near Lodi in Columbia county.

Mrs. Patricia Esser, 26, Milwaukee, died Saturday night in a 2-car crash on Highway 70 near Minocqua. Her husband, Frederick, their three small children and four other persons were hurt.

Mrs. Leone Virnig, 29, Waukegan, was killed in a 2-car accident at a Dane county road intersection northeast of Cross Plains. Her husband and five of their six children were injured.

Gary Noble, 16, Stewartville, Minn., was killed early Saturday one mile west of Sparta. The auto he was driving overturned on Highway 16.

Three persons lost their lives Friday night in a 2-car collision near Barton in Washington county. Killed were

Formosa Reports Troop Buildup

Taipei, Formosa — The defense ministry said today the Chinese reds had increased by eight or nine divisions the strength of their ground forces in the coastal areas of Fukien province, opposite Formosa.

A communist division averages 12,700 men. At this reckoning, the increase would be from 101,600 to 114,300. The defense ministry interpreted this strengthening as preparation for aggression.

The ministry also reported red shelling of the Quemoy group of islands 150 miles south of the Matsus. It said the reds fired 88 rounds at them between midnight and 12:45 a. m. today, but caused no damage.

UN Gets New Plan In Middle East Crisis

Western Backed Proposal Calls For Hammarskjold To Work Out Arrangements To Ease Tension

BY MAX HARRELSON

United Nations, N.Y. — The emergency U. N. general assembly today received a western-backed plan calling on Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to work out arrangements to ease tension in the Middle East.

The new plan, embodying several parts of President Eisenhower's peace program, failed to win the backing of key Asian and Arab countries but its sponsors predicted it would win the necessary two-thirds majority.

Initial sponsors were Norway, Canada, Colombia and Denmark. Others were expected to join later. The United States and Britain, although not formal sponsors, had a leading part in drafting the proposal and were prepared to give it full support.

Troop Withdrawal Secretary of State Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd submitted letters to the assembly president, Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand, giving formal assurances U. S. and British forces would be withdrawn from Lebanon and Jordan when stable conditions are restored.

A key part of the letters, designed to ease Arab opposition to the western resolution, declared that U. S. and British forces would be pulled out as soon as the assembly determined that the U. N. had taken action that makes their presence unnecessary.

Diplomatic sources said India would vote against the Norwegian plan despite the assurances. Asians and Arabs object particularly to the absence of any direct request on the resolution for U. S. and British withdrawal.

Main Points Main points in the Norwegian resolution:

1. Hammarskjold would make such arrangements as he may find adequate in upholding the principles and purposes of the U. N. charter in relation to Lebanon and Jordan. It also takes note of the Dulles and Lloyd letters.

2. The assembly would reaffirm that all U. N. members should refrain from acts, direct or indirect, aimed at fomenting civil strife in other countries or at subversion.

3. Hammarskjold would be asked to continue his studies on a possible standby U. N. peace force for the Middle East. He also would be asked to consult with the Arabs on the possibility of setting up an economic regional development agency.

4. A report would be requested by Sept. 30, when the regular fall assembly will be in session.

Soviet Resolution The Soviet Union already has introduced a resolution which would have the assembly recommend that the United States and Britain withdraw their troops without delay. The resolution also calls for strengthening the U. N. observer corps in Lebanon and sending another to Jordan to supervise the troop withdrawal and the situation on Jordan's frontiers.

For assembly approval, any important resolution needs a two-thirds vote. The 28-nation Asian-African group thus holds the balance of power.

Mother Kills 3 Small Sons By Drowning

San Antonio, Texas — A distraught mother drowned her three small sons, she said yesterday, because "I didn't want my husband to have them."

"I have just drowned my three children," she calmly told a police sergeant. "I only wish I had," the 24-year-old woman answered when the sergeant asked if she fabricated the story.

Later, under questioning, Mrs. Rosa Pena became hysterical. Patrolmen dispatched to the home in a poorer section of the city found the three boys — David, 6, Alvina, 4, and Richard 2, dead. A medical examiner said they apparently had been drowned.

Police had not been able to locate the father early today. They said Alfonso Pena worked at Kelly Air Force base here. His wife said they had been married nine years.

Drank Poison Mrs. Pena said after drowning the boys as she admitted them to a bathroom for their baths that she drank what she thought was poison from a bottle. It had no apparent effect.

The woman told police she waited about an hour before coming to them. At the police station she calmly stood in line to await her turn to make her report.

Mrs. Pena was booked at city jail for murder and placed in a hospital for treatment of shock. A police guard was ordered.

She told police that she and her husband had had domestic difficulties. She quoted Pena as saying that if she left him he would take the children with him.

"If I can't have them," she told police, "no one can."

Jap Longshoremen Refuse to Unload Missile Equipment

Yokohama, Japan — Japanese opposition to nuclear weapons again today blocked the unloading of Swiss guided-missile equipment which defense officials say cannot take atomic warheads.

The Japan Longshoremen's union, backed by the opposition socialist party and a host of leftist groups, refused to touch the missile cargo that arrived Sunday. It called the shipment a step toward arming Japan with atomic weapons.

Second Try To Be Made In September

Cape Canaveral, Fla. — Air Force scientists and brass pressed an intensive investigation today to learn what caused the nation's first lunar rocket to explode.

The huge satellite bearing missile shattered to bits in a puff of white smoke yesterday 77 seconds after a fiery blastoff.

Even before this initial strike at the moon a second attempt had been ordered. The follow-up air force lunar probe attempt is expected during a 3-day period starting Sept. 14. There was a distinct possibility that the Russians might attempt to beat the new U. S. deadline by one day.

Plans for another moon rocket try were disclosed as the air force began fishing the explosion-torn debris of its first lunar vehicle out of the Atlantic.

Recover Sections Divers descended into 60 feet of water some 10 miles northeast of the cape and came up with sections of the metal skin of the Thor 1,500-mile-range missile that was the first stage of the moon rocket.

The divers sought to retrieve as much of the broken missile first stage as they could before sand buries it.

The two upper stages — both borrowed from the navy Vanguard program — continued onward an undetermined distance with the lunar probe after the explosion. It was not expected that that part of the wreckage would be recovered.

Preliminary analysis indicated that the explosion occurred in the engine compartment.

Report Soviets To Give Chinese Reds Atomic Arms

New York — The New York Times said today the Soviet Union reportedly has decided to supply atomic weapons and ballistic missiles to communist China plus more economic development aid.

A Times dispatch from Warsaw said reports reaching the Polish capital indicated the Russians also have decided to help Red China launch an earth satellite and to build four more nuclear reactors there. China claims one reactor now.

The reports were said to come from sources that had first reported a recent military and political agreement between Moscow and Peiping.

The reported agreements came out of a meeting in Peiping three weeks ago between Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Chinese Communist Boss Mao Tze-tung, the dispatch said. Reports on them apparently are being allowed to circulate with at least tacit Soviet approval.

Chicago to Beloit Tollway to Open

Chicago — Illinois opens its first stretch of toll highway Wednesday. It will be the first of three inter-connected routes covering 187 miles in north-central Illinois to go into service.

It is the Northwest Tollway, a 76-mile route between Chicago's outskirts and South Beloit and a connection with south central Wisconsin highways.

Europe Hails Effort Despite Lack of Success

Attitude Shows Change From Days Of First Sputnik

BY PATRICK MASSEY

London — Western Europeans showed almost as much disappointment as the Americans today at the failure of the first U. S. moon rocket. It was a significant change of attitude since the days of the first sputnik.

British and continental newspapers — cynical about the American efforts when the Russians won the race to launch the first artificial earth satellite — were sympathetic this time.

"We say hard luck — and better luck next time," commented the laborite Daily Herald, adding that it would not join any "cynical chorus decrying Americans because the moon shooting operation was not kept secret until it succeeded."

Other British headlines: "O.K., so we try again" — the empire-minded Daily Express.

"Moon Wins Round One" — conservative Daily Mail.

"Moon rocket goes 10 miles" — liberal New Chronicle.

Praise Open Attempt British newspapers praised the American scientists for making their attempt in the full glare of publicity in contrast to the Soviet ventures which are announced only when successful.

The conservative French newspaper Le Figaro took a column of type to explain the difficulties confronting would-be moon shooters.

In West Germany, the Cologne Stadt-Anzeiger said, "There is not the slightest reason to sneer." The paper said it would be better if something were known of Russian efforts on this subject.

Largest A-Sub Ready to Launch

Groton, Conn. — Workers today applied final pre-launching touches to the $109 million Triton, the world's largest known and most expensive submarine.

The U. S. navy's Triton, a 5,900-ton, 447-foot giant with two atomic engines, is to plunge into the Thames river here shortly after noon tomorrow.

The vessel will be Uncle Sam's eighth nuclear submarine launched and will become part of a fleet of 33 atomic powered subs already built, being built or authorized for construction.

The Triton's mission is to be a roaming radar station watching for enemy aircraft thousands of miles from American shores.

Herman Kierdorf Gives Himself Up

Surrenders at Restaurant in Rendezvous Arranged by Son

Pontiac, Mich. — Herman Kierdorf, former Teamster official sought for two weeks in the mystery torch death of his nephew, gave himself up last night, ending one of Michigan's biggest manhunt in years.

The 68-year-old ex-convict, onetime business agent for a Teamsters local, surrendered to authorities at a drive-in restaurant rendezvous by pre-arrangement.

"I'm happy to have it over with," he sighed.

Herman vanished Aug. 4, the day his nephew, Frank Kierdorf, 54, staggered into a Pontiac hospital with horrible burns which police believe he suffered while setting fire to a dry cleaning shop in Flint.

later, Frank said he was burned deliberately by two men. But police said their investigation disproved the story.

Denying emphatically any connection with the reputed arson, Herman said he surrendered because he really "had no reason to hide." He also insisted that his ex-convict nephew had not burned himself.

"Why should Frank set that place on fire as an arson job?" he asked. "I just don't believe Frank would do a thing like that."

Clutching a big cigar and wearing an Ivy League cap, Herman gave himself up promptly at the agreed time of 10 p. m. His son, Richard, had acted as intermediary with police.

"I am a sick man," he told

Washington — A stack of bills, some of which could provoke floor battles, today confronted a congress anxious to go home and campaign for the fall elections.

Leaders were shooting for adjournment by the end of this week, but there were several issues that could prevent them from hitting that target.

The house undertook a man-sized job by listing 35 bills for possible consideration today under procedure requiring two-thirds votes for passage.

Labor Control Bill

In this group was a controversial labor control bill which has passed the senate. This measure was given slight chance.

Another bill up for action on a take-it-or-leave-it basis was a watered-down housing bill which has passed the senate in a different form. It's fate was uncertain.

The senate, meanwhile, was due to tackle legislation aimed at overcoming the effects of certain supreme court decisions in the civil liberties and anti-subversive fields.

This potentially explosive debate could tie up the senate for some time and possibly delay adjournment.

Another issue likely to strike sparks in the senate is the nomination of W. Wilson White to be an assistant attorney general in charge of the justice department's new civil rights division.

White's nomination is opposed by southern senators who recall the legal spade-work he did in connection with President Eisenhower's use of federal troops to enforce court-ordered school integration in Little Rock last fall.

The senate Democratic policy committee has cleared 106 bills for senate action. However, many of these are minor and some may not be called up.

One major bill awaiting senate action is a $3,318,000,000 foreign aid money bill. The house has passed an aid bill totaling $3,078,000,000.

Ike Wants Funds During the weekend, a high administration official said Eisenhower will make a determined bid to get a final bill as close as possible to the bigger senate total.

Eisenhower's 5-point program for Middle East stability, presented last week to the United Nations general assembly, got a warm reception in congress. The administration official said the president plans to tell congressional leaders they can show their support for it by voting maximum aid funds.

However, senators who have battled foreign aid in the past may try to cut the senate to-

House Considering New Security Bill

Lawmakers Must Vote on Senate Amendments; Proposal Could Go Straight to the White House

Washington—(P)—The house faces a decision on what to do about a bill that would boost payments to some 12 million persons now drawing social security benefits.

The question before the house is whether to accept amendments adopted by the senate in a move to avert a possible veto by President Eisenhower.

If acceptance is voted without sending the bill to a senate-house conference the measure will go to the White House.

The house on July 31 passed a bill to grant a 7 per cent increase in benefits. The vote was 375-2.

Annual Exodus Of Lawmakers Ready to Begin

But Trips to Lands Across Sea May Be Fewer Than Last Year

Washington —(P)— Whether or not congress adjourns this week, some of its members are all set to leave for distant places. Some have gone overseas already.

The exodus of congress members from the United States in 1958 may not be as heavy as last year, however.

The main reason: Many of them will be out campaigning. Elections are coming up in November, affecting all 435 house seats and 34 of the 96 senate seats.

Last year, between one third and one half of the congress members found official reason to visit foreign lands.

Meeting in Rio

One senate-house group took a pre-adjournment trip late last month. This was a delegation of seven house members and four senators attending the 2-week annual conference of the interparliamentary union which met in Rio De Janeiro, Brazil.

Here are a few examples of pending congressional trips:

1. Two members of the newly formed house space committee expect to read papers at the international astronomical federation meeting in Amsterdam starting next Monday.

2. About a half dozen representatives and senators from the joint atomic energy committee are due to start for Geneva about the same time to attend the international convention on atomic energy.

3. Starting early next month, some senate-house economic committee members plan to check on economic matters in Europe that might have a bearing on U. S. policy.

Sometimes dollar expenditures for such trips, if any, come out of congressional funds. Sometimes they are charged off by executive departments.

The biggest money source is counterpart funds—U. S. owned foreign currencies acquired under American aid programs.

The house and senate this year passed separate measures aimed at curbing free-wheeling spending of counterpart funds, but key provisions of both bills were dropped in the subsequent house-senate compromise.

Thus, counterpart controls will remain about the same this year as previously. Total expenditures by committee will be made public, but not those by any individual congressman.

Other senators, defending the court's decisions as protecting individual rights, have vigorously opposed any efforts to modify them.

English Sun Fails to Shine On Convention of Naturalists

Woburn, England—(P)—The world's greatest optimists—international nudists hoping to find sunshine in Britain—shivered in 64-degree temperature today.

Of course there was no sun. Explaining why the few females who stripped wore not the slightest semblance of clothes, Dr. Douglas Gibson, the camp's press officer said: "We definitely bar flimsies of all kind."

A reporter pointed to a delegate wearing only a pair of socks and sandals.

"Socks," said Gibson, "are not flimsies."

The nudist, or naturist, camp, was formally opened over the weekend. It will end with the 6th world naturist congress Aug. 27-31.

The convention is being held on the 12-mile-square estate of the Duke of Bedford, known as Britain's best dress-

Auto Industry Starts New Car Production

Contract Fight Looms in Background As Big Three Issues First Callback

Detroit —(P)— The auto industry today started production of its new 1959 model cars in an atmosphere of uncertainty.

With contracts still to be settled with the United Auto Workers union, the industry's big three faced the possibility of a strike in the fall.

The union has said nothing specific. But labor trouble is held to be likely if there is no settlement with Ford, Chrysler or General Motors.

Negotiations are continuing.

Call Back Men

Chrysler today called back several thousand men after months of layoff. They were the first of 42,000 workers coming back to turn out Dodge, DeSoto, Chrysler and Imperial cars. Chrysler's full work force is about 90,000.

By mid-November the worker recall is expected to number into the scores of thousands in the industry. The future will tell how the 1959 model year is to compare with the recession-cut 1958 year.

Ultimate peak employment will depend on the car market and the extent of production.

Recently General Motors had employed fewer than 200,000 men. On the basis of present forecasts the figure will be 325,000 by mid-November. That would be about 60,000 less than the peak in the first quarter of last year.

Ford, which employed 143,000 in the first quarter last year, has indicated it should be up to 102,500 at the height of '59 model production.

Reuther Absent

Union-company negotiations resumed without the presence in Detroit of UAW President Walter Reuther. Reuther is in Forest Park, Pa., for the meeting of the AFL-CIO executive council.

Two labor disputes were settled Sunday. An unauthorized walkout of 26 UAW lift truck drivers at Chrysler's stamping plant at Twinsburg, Ohio, ended, but terms of the agreement were not announced.

The strike, caused by personal grievances, has idled 1,400 production workers for a week.

And a dispute over an outside contract at the Wixom, Mich., Lincoln - Thunderbird plant where 2,500 workers are employed was settled when UAW members voted to return to work under terms of a settlement worked out by company and union negotiators.

They had two sons and a daughter. Lord Headford died in 1943.

No Badgers on Exhibit at Fair

Milwaukee —(P)— Wisconsin, the Badger state, has no badger on display at the state fair because of sickness among animals at the state game farm at Poynette.

C. L. Coon, supervisor of educational exhibits for the conservation department, said some badgers had died after anti-rabies shots during a vaccination test at the game farm.

"A lot of porcupines, bears, mink and raccoons also died," Coon said. "They had to close down the mammal display at the game farm on July 1."

Coon said state biologists still are not sure that the mysterious sickness was rabies, but he said conservationists decided they wouldn't take a chance on exhibiting any animals at the fair if they had been exposed to the incubated animals.

Police said Russell Donald Millsap Jr., was out of the car before his father brought it to a stop. They said the other auto, driven by Mrs. Virginia K. Rogers, was going slowly.

Socialites Certain to Contend This Fall for New York Governor

Rockefeller Assured of GOP Bid By Withdrawal of Leonard Hall

Albany, N.Y. —(P)— Two multi-millionaire socialites almost certainly will fight it out this year for the governorship of New York.

They are Democrat Averell Harriman, the incumbent governor and Republican Nelson A. Rockefeller, philanthropist and head of the Rockefeller brothers foundation.

Assured Nomination

Rockefeller was virtually assured of the GOP nomination when Leonard W. Hall, former GOP national chairman, withdrew Sunday from the battle for the party endorsement. Harriman is unopposed for nomination for a second 4-year term.

After his withdrawal from the Republican pre-campaign fight, Hall was urged by some party leaders to run for the senate.

However, one close associate expressed doubt that he would.

Hall, describing himself as a "political realist," quit the gubernatorial race yesterday. A short time later, the 106-member Brooklyn delegation to the state GOP convention endorsed Rockefeller for the nomination.

Their votes pushed Rockefeller's pledged total to 485. It was uncertain where Hall's 163 pledged votes would go, but Rockefeller appeared likely to get some. He needs 586 to be nominated on the first ballot.

From the Democrats came the charge by state committee Chairman Michael H. Prendergast that Rockefeller was guaranteed the nomination by Republican leaders "long before he threw his hat in the ring."

Had a Guarantee
Prendergast said Rockefeller had a guarantee "handed to him by the same Republican bosses who have now forced Leonard Hall to bow to what he freely admits is political reality."

Two important Republicans urged Hall to make the senate try.

Hall said he does not want to return to Washington. He is a former GOP national chairman and also served seven terms in congress.

Other possibilities for the senate are veteran Rep. Kenneth B. Keating of Rochester and Paul W. Williams, a former U. S. attorney.

Child's First Fling At Driving Backfires
Monterey Park, Calif. —(P)— Johnny Underwood crawled into the family car, turned on the ignition key and started the engine. He steered it around a parked car, rolled down a hill and crashed into a concrete wall.

Damage included a smashed fender and headlight, leaking radiator and a bump on Johnny's head.

"He won't be driving again for a long time," said Johnny's father, Edward Underwood. "His license has been revoked for at least 15 years."

Johnny is 3.

Oakland, Calif. —(P)— A 3-year-old boy leaped from his father's car as it pulled up to a curb Sunday and was run over and killed by a passing automobile.

Police said Russell Donald Millsap Jr., was out of the car before his father brought it to a stop. They said the other auto, driven by Mrs. Virginia K. Rogers, was going slowly.

reporters, referring to a heart condition. He added that another reason he turned himself in was that he felt sorry that chief assistant prosecutor George Taylor of Oakland county was "taking a rap."

It was Taylor, a chief investigating officer in the Frank Kierdorf fire death mystery, who let Herman have his freedom Aug. 4 after he had been questioned.

"I'm sorry I caused so much trouble," Herman said apologetically.

Herman surrendered to Taylor and Chief Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem at the drive-in. The two officers were accompanied to the meeting place by Herman's son.

Before being booked at the Oakland county jail, Herman took a nitroglycerine pill for his bad heart.

Charge Brought

Herman was booked on a formal charge of possession of a pistol silencer, a law violation in Michigan. This was the charge on which he had been declared a fugitive.

While he talked to reporters, Herman said he would not make a formal statement until he could see his lawyer today.

He said he never left Michigan while the search was on. But he refused to say where he had spent the 13 days of his absence.

Herman's statements in an interview with newsmen sometimes were in conflict. At one time he said he vanished because he was "shaken

Hungarian Chief Under Treatment

Vienna — Travelers arriving from Budapest reported today that Hungary's communist chief, Janos Kadar, has gone to Russia to be treated for a nervous condition.

Budapest radio announced

Sent Back Signals

Neither of the upper stages of the rocket had time to achieve ignition. Nevertheless the missile payload raced on and upward, sending back radio signals for more than 200 seconds after launching time.

In Washington, Lt. Gen. Roscoe Wilson, air force deputy chief of staff for research and development said the Soviet Union might try a launching Sept. 13, because, in view of its location, it would have a chance for a moon shot one day before this country does.

Wilson said he believed the Russians already had made one or two unsuccessful efforts to reach the moon.

The 85-pound lunar probe contained 25 pounds of instrumentation, including equipment to radio back crude pictures of the moon.

Other devices were designed to measure the number of micrometeorite impacts and the magnetic fields of the earth and moon.

Premier Awarded Order of Lenin

Moscow — Frol R. Kozlov, one of the fastest rising members of the Kremlin hierarchy, has been awarded the Order of Lenin on his 50th birthday.

Announcing the award today Pravda said he had been cited for his "great services to the communist party and the Soviet state." A 2-column portrait dominated the front page.

A communist party official since 1939, Kozlov was appointed to the party's ruling Presidium in the shakeup of June, 1957. In December he was made premier of the Russian republic, the Soviet Union's biggest division. He was named one of the Soviet Union's two first deputy premiers last March.

Princess Fractures Arm, Dislocates Knee During Visit in Greece

Athens, Greece — Princess Desiree, 20-year-old granddaughter of the king of Sweden, suffered a fractured arm and a dislocated knee last night when her jeep skidded and turned over.

Princess Irene, 16-year-old daughter of the king of Greece, with Desiree, sustained minor injuries.

A medical announcement said Desiree, who was driving the jeep, suffered "a greenstick fracture of the forearm and dislocation of the left knee." A greenstick fracture is one in which the bone is partly broken and partly bent.

The two princesses were driving on Corfu island at the time of the accident. They were returning from an outing. Princess Desiree has been a vacationer at the Greek royal household.

Oshkosh School Will Get New President in '59

Present Head Must Retire at End of Academic Year

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — A new president will direct the affairs of Wisconsin State college at Oshkosh after next year, as a result of the retirement plans of President Forrest R. Polk, senior president in the 10 unit state college system.

Rules of the college system require the retirement of presidents at the end of the academic year in which they attain the age of 70 years. Faculty members are expected to retire at 65. President Polk will become 70 in October.

Regents of the state colleges are expected this fall to name a special committee to recruit candidates for the succession and to examine them to make a recommendation for an appointment of a new president who would take office in preparation for the 1959 academic year.

The dignified veteran of the state college system, widely known and respected in higher education circles, became president of the Oshkosh college 27 years ago after he had worked as a teacher on its faculty for the preceding decade.

He had not trained for a teaching career but had majored in engineering in college. After working in highway design and construction, he entered the high school field in Indiana and joined the state college faculty at Oshkosh in 1915. He left after a few years to join the staff of the state highway department, and returned to Oshkosh in 1921. He was taking graduate work in geology at the University of Wisconsin 10 years later when he was invited to assume the Oshkosh presidency.

The school has expanded rapidly in recent years, and has doubled its enrollment since 1950. Current state college system enrollment projections suggest that Oshkosh will be the largest unit in the state college system as a result of enrollment growth predicted for the fall term.

State Honors Naval Hero

Ceremonies Set for Late Adm. Mitscher, Hillsboro Aviator

Madison — Another of the state's distinguished flying sons soon will be honored with an official historical marker at his birthplace.

Hillsboro, in western Wisconsin, has completed plans for dedicating a marker Aug. 24 to the late Adm. Marc A. Mitscher.

It will be the fourth marker dedicated in Wisconsin to the memory of distinguished aviators. Others honor Jack Vilas at Trout Lake who made the first forest protection patrol flight in the country; at West Allis honoring the famed Gen. Billy Mitchell; and at Poplar honoring Maj. Dick Bong, World War II ace.

The state aeronautics commission, helping with arrangements for the Hillsboro ceremony, said that among the dignitaries expected to attend are Gov. Vernon W. Thomson, Adm. Henry H. Caldwell, chief of naval air reserve training, and Mrs. Mitscher, widow of the admiral.

Mitscher was a pioneer of American naval aviation and is best remembered as the commander of naval task force 58, distinguished for its destruction of Japanese naval power during World War II. He was born in Hillsboro in 1887.

Industrial Park Purchase May Violate Technicality

BY JIM NEWCOMB

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The revelation that Appleton must annex Chicago and North Western Railway company right-of-way before it can annex the 39.91-acre industrial park may mean the park was purchased illegally.

The so-called Quinn law, adopted in the last legislature, states "cities may acquire real property within or contiguous to the city, by means other than condemnation, for industrial sites."

The industrial park is neither within the city nor contiguous, since the railroad right-of-way is between. It is at the northwest corner of the intersection of C&NW tracks and S. Perkins street.

The question is whether courts would uphold the park purchase anyway, since the only intervening land is the railroad right-of-way.

Prompt Act to Help

It is obvious a railroad right-of-way is extremely desirable to any industrial tract anywhere and this might cause a court to overlook the technicality of non-contiguity.

Prompt annexation of the right-of-way to straighten out the oversight probably would make a court feel the city corrected any deficiency. This is what City Atty. Don L. Jury will attempt to accomplish in conferring with railroad officials.

No real conclusions about court attitudes can be made, since there have been no cases since the new law was adopted.

Appleton's park was purchased by council order of Jan. 2 for $1,500 an acre. Roy Winter and Roland Abitz are the former owners.

Right Way to Lift May Save Strained Back

There's a right way and a wrong way to lift objects, labor department safety experts say.

If you're not partial to sprains, strains, or bruises, you may want to follow their advice — and it applies to housewives and weekend gardeners as well as factory workers.

Do this: Size up the load first. Do not attempt to lift it alone if you cannot do so smoothly. Make sure that your footing is firm.

Place the feet close to the base of the object to be lifted, and 8-12 inches apart.

Bend the knees outward and straddle the load somewhat, keeping the back as straight as possible.

Be sure you have a firm, comfortable grip and that the load is balanced. Now start pushing up with your legs — your strongest set of muscles. Keep the load close to your body as you come up, taking full advantage of the mechanical leverage your body now possesses.

Lift the object to the carrying position. If it is necessary to turn, be sure to change your foot position. Do not twist your body.

To lower the load from a waist-high position, bend your knees, keep your back many straight and the load close to your body. Let your arm and leg muscles, not your back, years later. Sir Dudley is survived by a son, novelist Somerset de Chair.

British Senior Admiral Dies

London — Britain's senior admiral, Sir Dudley Rawson Stratford de Chair, died last night. He was 93.

Sir Dudley was believed to be the last British survivor of the Egyptian war of 1882, in which he was captured and held prisoner for six weeks.

Sir Dudley at one time served as British naval attaché in Washington. When World War I broke out, he was naval secretary to Winston Churchill, then first lord of the admiralty.

De Chair was knighted later for commanding the 10th cruiser squadron when it played an important role in maintaining the blockade of Germany.

He was promoted to admiral in 1920 and retired three years later. Sir Dudley is survived by a son, novelist Somerset de Chair.

Old-Time Politicking Highlights GOP Picnic

Thomson, Knowles, Steinle Lash at

Democrats; Concentrate Fire on Proxmire

BY JACK GLASNER

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Outagamie county Republicans held their first party picnic in at least 20 years Sunday and got some old-time politicking done.

Senatorial Candidate Roland J. Steinle laced Sen. William Proxmire and Gov. Vernon Thomson poured it on the Democratic party.

Free refreshments and fresh air during a perfect day helped the camp meeting atmosphere along. Making a big hit was Tommy Thomson, the governor's son, who said it wasn't a matter of who could win, but who would. The who was the GOP, of course.

The Community park at Black Creek held several hundred candidates, curiosity-seekers and Republicans. They listened to a band and speeches and met the Outagamie county GOP candidates, Gov. Thomson, former state Supreme Court Justice Steinle and Lt. Gov. Warren Knowles.

GOP Progress

Gov. Thomson remarked that he was late — "slowed up by the 4-laning of Highway 41. That's progress — Republican progress because we are on a pay-as-we-go basis."

Thomson attacked the Democrats, accusing them of taking no interest in education until the sputnik launching. "When the state administration urged educational construction and aids, the Democrats voted against those programs," Thomson declared.

The governor maintained the state returned about 70 per cent of all taxes to local governmental units. The national average of monies returned to local units is $4.01, "but in Wisconsin we return $25.67 per capita," Thomson said.

Steinle accused Proxmire of "downright deception and a shocking record on Proxmire's education bill before the senate." Proxmire told the people that his bill would cost $822,300,000 a year, "when in actuality after the third year, and every year thereafter, the bill would cost taxpayers $2.9 billion," the former justice said.

Knowles commented that Republican government in the state had a record of financial responsibility — "we don't have one cent of debt. Wisconsin is one of two states in the U. S. without a bonded debt. We are on a pay-as-you-go basis and intend to keep it that way," the lieutenant governor declared.

Most GOP candidates for county offices attended the picnic and were introduced. Appleton Mayor Clarence Mitchell and several aldermen also were there.

Republican women staffed a booth to take memberships in the party.

Claims Governor Stirring Up Old Labor Strifes

Milwaukee — (AP) — Democratic candidate for governor, Gaylord Nelson, told Kenosha county Democrats that Gov. Vernon Thomson and Roland Steinle are "stirring up all the old strifes between labor and management."

Nelson said, "Just two months ago Thomson approached the state CIO convention at La Crosse with honed words and with his hat in his hand, seeking labor's endorsement. But the CIO refused to fall for his slick

Automobile Liability Insurance Laws

Although years of discussion and experimentation have gone into the problem of automobile liability insurance, there are problems still unsolved. One reason for failure to find a solution to the most pressing problems in this field is the reluctance of legislative bodies to lay down rules of responsibility and apply the rules impartially.

Citizens glancing at this problem casually are apt to say that every motorist should be compelled to carry insurance. It sounds simple but so far very few legislatures have adopted compulsory insurance laws. Legislators are reluctant to prevent anyone from driving unless it has been demonstrated that he is unable to pay for any damage he may cause.

This philosophy results in laws like that of Wisconsin, which permits anyone to drive until he has an accident resulting in damage which he is unable to pay. The first accident could result in the death and injury and great property damage by the uninsured vehicle. Often the driver will be unable to compensate the persons injured. The Wisconsin law is often criticized for giving the motorist the "first bite" without insurance while he is obliged to be insured thereafter. There is a provision that the driver causing the accident must submit proof of ability to satisfy any judgment or obtain a release from the injured parties or his driver's license and car registration will be suspended for more than a year.

The Massachusetts and New York legislatures have adopted compulsory insurance laws. The Massachusetts law has frequently been criticized by insurance underwriters as inviting politics into the insurance field to the great expense of the taxpayers. However, Massachusetts has continued its compulsory law despite attacks upon it. Presumably the people of that state prefer their plan to the voluntary method with its many loopholes.

The New York law dates from 1956 and so there has been much less experience under it. However the New York law was not adopted without several years of discussion and study. An effort was made to defend against the weakness of the Massachusetts law by writing in a provision to keep underwriting and rate-making free of politics.

Under the New York law every motorist registering his car must give proof of financial responsibility by insurance or by bond or deposits in minimum amounts of $10,000/$20,000 liability and $5,000 property damage. Fines of $100 to $1,000 and a year in prison or both are provided for operating a car without financial responsibility.

Since insurance laws are state laws, those states with compulsory laws have not protected their citizens from drivers from other states who may be uninsured, or from drivers of stolen cars, or hit-and-run drivers. In other states, efforts to protect the responsible drivers have been made by setting up unsatisfied judgment funds from which damages caused by uninsured drivers might be paid, or by permitting "uninsured motorist" endorsements on policies which permit the insurance company to pay the insured if he suffers a loss due to an uninsured driver. Both plans are faulty in that they place the cost of damages by the irresponsible drivers upon the responsible careful drivers.

None of the plans is perfect and the search for a workable solution is continuing. The fact that there has been no strong gravitation by states to any particular plan indicates that there is still much work to be done.

The Wisconsin plan, for all of its loopholes, including the "first bite" for the uninsured driver, is working out quite well. The problems of the uninsured, out of state drivers, the stolen car drivers and the illegal drivers remain, but there has been a big improvement since the adoption of the law about 12 years ago. Today well over 80 per cent of Wisconsin drivers are insured, while at the time of the adoption of the law the percentage figure was less than half of that.

Oddly enough some careful students in this field are now demanding strict enforcement of the traffic laws as the best means of eliminating the irresponsible driver. Their argument is that the responsible driver pays for the destruction caused by the irresponsible drivers. Since the responsible drivers are in the majority, they can bring about the elimination of the irresponsible drivers any time they want to. All that is necessary is a better understanding of the problem by the public, and intelligent leadership in the legislatures and in the insurance associations.

rather than our own historical development and political habits.

He wants a president who would have authority rather than name only. The president under his plan would name the prime minister and other members of the cabinet. The powers of the National assembly would be considerably circumscribed. The French president would be, perhaps, the most powerful executive officer of any major republic and would be chosen according to a complex system involving provincial and local assemblies, much as if we were to choose our president by vote of county boards and city councils and state legislatures. Some observers have explained that this elaborate method is partly defensive. Communists, dangerously powerful in the national elections, evidently have less influence upon provincial and municipal affairs in France.

These are mechanical details, doubtless intended to be modified in the French national debate in forthcoming weeks. The encouragement to Americans in the dispatches from Paris lies in the hope, faint and uncertain as it may be thus far, that the emergency French premier is acting in good faith under his mandate to strengthen realistically the historic Gallic democracy.

Gen. DeGaulle Proposes

In a swiftly contracting world, the new constitutional proposals of Gen. DeGaulle for the French Republic have as much importance for the average American as many of the dramatic developments of our own domestic politics.

France is an indispensable partner in the NATO alliance which is the shield of free Europe. Without the strategic location of France, its resources and its manpower and its historic association with the free European spirit, NATO will become an empty pretense, a hollowly mocking shell. A firm partnership in the NATO alliance by France is impossible without a stable government.

It is stability of the French administration that is the heartfelt hope of the friends of France and the defensive arrangements in Western Europe, and it is stability that Gen. DeGaulle is seeking under the emergency mandate granted him a few months ago.

To our American eyes, his methods may appear unorthodox, if not altogether peculiar. But he is seeking to create a stronger executive, partly upon the American model, and his details must be judged by French traditions and circumstances

What Others are Saying

Hope Debt Limit Hike Will Bring Cutback in Spending

From The Washington, D. C. Daily News

In raising the so-called limit on the national debt by another $10 billion, the house acted on the ground, as most of the debaters agreed, that it had no choice.

It had no choice because the house, the senate and the administration already had spent or obligated the money.

The choice was made earlier in the session, when congress was busy appropriating sums which turned an original 1959 budget estimate of $500 million in the black into a present estimate of $12 billion in the red.

Congress not only lost control of spending by executive departments, but its own spending.

Congressman Laird of Wisconsin, for instance, said said congress already has added more than $3.5 billion to the record peacetime spending proposed by the administration in the budget. This is only part of the story. But it was enough to move Laird to tell the house: "We are on a spending spree of which I want no part. I think we are headed for serious trouble. I think it is time that this congress went home. This would be in the best interest of future generations of Americans and in the best interests of today's taxpayers."

The administration request for a raise in the debt ceiling had been apparent long before it was made. But it seemed to come as a shock to some house members, and there was a chorus of sudden demands for cutting back government spending.

Well, the house has its hands on a bill which could get that program started. It is a senate-approved bill to return to congress some of the control it lost over government spending. And then it can go to work on its own spending, by eliminating or reducing some of the handout programs which have been so costly. We hope the "shock" of having to raise the debt limit will produce such results.

Fire Insurance No Reason for Complacency

From The Davenport, Iowa, Times Democrat

When you see a fire engine go roaring by, you may wonder for a second or two whether it could be headed for your house. Then you dismiss it from your mind. You might not be so complacent if the figures on fire losses were placed before you in big red letters.

During 1956, there were 365,561 reported fires in communities of 2,500 or more population, which means a fire started every 27 seconds.

Almost everything you own, from a house down to a dishpan, costs twice as much today as it did a few years back.

In most cases, even though you are carrying double the insurance you carried 15 years ago, you would still be out of pocket in replacing the things destroyed by fire. Your best protection is to see that every possible hazard around your property is reduced to the minimum. It is cheaper to call in an electrician or furnace man to make needed repairs and replacements than it is to call the fire department.

Wants Referendum on Parking Meters and One Way Streets

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In last Thursday P-C there was an interesting article telling about the Downtown Retail association studying the parking situation and trying to find out who's cars are parked on or near the avenue all day. One of the association's members said he counted 11. Chum. I can point out nearly a hundred without much investigation. I have been around the Zuelke building and I have seen office girls come out and put nickels in as many as a dozen or more parking meters on the avenue and S. Oneida St.

Doesn't our parking ordinance say "One hour parking" or words to that effect? Why shouldn't the police get going and get those cars ticketed that are parked all day? The biggest mistake our oft-times misguided city council ever made was to install parking meters. When a policeman on a bike marked the cars, they had to be moved — it was fairly easy to get a parking stall, as the cars couldn't be left in the same stall for hours. Why can't we get a referendum going to get rid of the parking meters everywhere but on the city lots.

Now we have one way streets and all of the attendant confusion plus the fact that some genius has managed to get the College avenue traffic lights out of synchronization, allowing one to make all of two blocks on a light — provided someone doesn't straddle both lanes and drift along ahead of you in the fruitless and never-ending quest for a parking stall. Might be a good idea to get that one way street deal up on a referendum, too.

Lets all check on cars that are parked all day and send the license numbers in to the paper. Your staff can easily determine who the owner is and print a listing every week. Business men who park on or near the avenue all day are cutting their own and each other's throats. We all suffer if Appleton business suffers. If shoppers can't park, where do they shop? That's right — the shopping centers, all outside of Appleton — no tax return from them. Noting wrong with the shopping centers — but that's where the business is going, little by little. It will all be out of town if we don't do something about the parking and traffic situations and do it quickly.

One reason that cars are

parked on the streets all day is that one more law is not enforced. Parking tickets say that each successive violation costs more: i. e. .50 the first time, a buck for the second, $1.50 the third, and so on. You are supposed to be ticketed every hour. Each hour runs up the tab. For the four bits fine here you can park right outside your store, not down the street a couple blocks.

I caution you — don't try it in Milwaukee or in most other cities — you'll find your car either plastered with parking tickets or else impounded.

Let's get the whole issue — parking meters, one way streets, no left turn sign and all, up on a referendum and let the people decide what they want one way or the other.

Gale Damages Eastern Coast

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Aug. 23, 1879.

On the Atlantic Coast, from North Carolina to Maine, occurred a terrific gale. At Beaufort the flood came in. The Atlantic Hotel, containing 150 guests, was washed away, the people escaping partially disrobed.

Ocean View House also was damaged, many private homes were ruined, boats and yachts were destroyed. Immense damage was done to shipping all along the coast. The wind was a tornado and the rain a deluge.

Pre-Election Kicks Coming in as Usual

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — Each year at about this time one or more amateur political campaign managers will drop around to complain about the lack of publicity his boy is getting. The sameness of these gripes and their periodicity suggests that the mechanics of news distribution, as it is related to the activities and the pontifications of the candidates for public place, are widely misunderstood.

Yet it is a reasonably simple matter. No newspaper or other medium can pretend to "cover" directly, through its own agents, the scores of candidates for high public places who are moving about the highways in this campaign season. Expense problems aside, modern life is so complex and challenging that there are a thousand other obligations upon the editor and his reporters.

Over the last couple of generations, therefore, the politicians and the media have gradually accommodated themselves to substitute arrangements. There was born the campaign "release," and with it was born the profession of political press agency.

When this newspaper or any other carries a news item under a dateline of another community relating that a candidate for election or nomination made a declaration on a particular topic last night, or scored his opponents, or made a promise it does not mean that any accredited reporter sat there listening and writing it down and then dashed to the telegraph office to preserve it for the electorate and for posterity. The overwhelming probability is that it was composed by a publicity man, distributed before the event and dispatched by one of the telegraphic news services to its clients.

The press agent probably consulted with his candidate, on the telephone, but not necessarily. After a while the publicity man becomes so familiar with his client that he knows what he is going to say. Frequently the candidate changes his speech so little that it requires a fertile publicist to find a "peg" for a release. Many times the publicity man wrote the speech, and merely "farms" one of its points, carefully saving the others for tomorrow and the tomorrows to come.

The literal-minded citizen or the political science seminarian may say that this is a pretty casual way to handle political news. Yet it works. It suits the news media. It suits the candidates. It is unlikely to be changed, the practical limitations of the system being what they are.

There are rules, tacit, but understood. The candidate shouldn't toss out half a dozen pieces in one day. He should also be tolerably honest about them.

The news editor is likely to toss aside anything that might be actionable under the libel laws, or extravagant on its face. He is also likely to try to balance the candidates, with respect to the length and number of news releases. There is a kind of rule that a release should be tied to an event, such as a rally, or an actual, physical appearance. Here the press agent is sometimes forced to strain his ingenuity — as shown by the suspicious number of releases ostensibly stemming from "coffee hours" and such like. Objective truth there might require the explanation that the "coffee hour" was a consultation with a friend and his wife on the back porch.

What makes a presentable release? It is a question of news. News is what interests people, or more particularly, what interests the man filing the news wire at any particular time and the telegraph editor handling it. So the answer to good publicity comes down, in most instances, to the skill and experience and sense of the publicity man. But even the best publicity man, it ought to be noted, cannot make a silk purse etc., etc.

In recent weeks there has been a flurry of interest in requiring all taxing units in the state to assess property at 100 per cent of value. This ghost is raised periodically among administrators looking for some formula for making taxes easier to pay.

Two things lie behind the latest revival of interest. One is the discomfort among officials whose jurisdictions do not assess property at the same percentage of true value.

Each of two officials, for example, may have in his community a piece of property whose true value is $20,000. One may assess everything in the community at 60 per cent of true value while the second assesses at 40 per cent.

In the case of the second the tax rate must be higher to get the same amount of money the first would get. The second therefore must continually explain why tax rates are higher than the first or else must jack up assessments — neither of which is a pleasant procedure.

The second, and basic, cause of the revival is that the cost of government is unreasonably high. Concern over tax rates is merely a symptom of a more deep-seated cause for anxiety as the high costs make the tax burden heavy enough for each taxpayer to have suspicions that perhaps he is being required to carry more than a fair share. Keeping him interested in tax rates is one way of distracting him from the real source of his concern — excessive government spending.

THIS IS A PRETTY CASUAL WAY to handle political news. Yet it works. It suits the news media. It suits the candidates. It is unlikely to be changed, the practical limitations of the system being what they are.

Aero Club Will Sponsor Annual Contest

State-Wide Model
Airplane Event
Scheduled Aug. 24

The Valley Aero club will sponsor its annual state-wide model airplane contest and show at its field at Ballard road and County Trunk JJ Aug. 24, James Grist, Appleton, club secretary, says.

The show will run from 11 o'clock in the morning to 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Activities will include stunts by radio-controlled models, control-line stunt and combat competition, glider drops, helium balloon chase and other events.

Control-line models will perform in three classifications — stunt, combat and "rat race." The "rat race" is a speed race between five models flying in a circle at one time.

In the helium balloon chase, balloons are released and models attempt to puncture them. The models are controlled from ground transmitters and have a range of about two miles.

More than 200 free gliders will be dropped to the audience from radio-controlled model airplanes.

Grist reported club members have been working since last spring on a 400-foot sod runway for their aircraft.

Other club officers aiding with plans for the air show are Tom Janssen, president; Karl Marx, vice president; Clyde Schley, treasurer; and John Schmieding, contest director.

Film Companies Are Warned to Clean Up Ads

Los Angeles—The Los Angeles Newspaper Publishers association has warned motion picture producers, distributors and exhibitors that they had better clean up some of their newspaper advertising if they expect to continue to run their copy in local newspapers.

The warning to the movie makers and exhibitors was contained in a letter from Arthur Pollock, general manager of the L. A. NPA, to some 100 studios and distributors. The letter laid down no rules for movie advertising but asked the advertisers to be their own censors.

Mr. Pollock explained that "The situation is getting just too explosive. There have been too many justified complaints from readers over the sex and violence featured in recent motion picture ads. We are hoping the theaters will clean them up themselves. If they don't we'll have to go after them."

Mr. Pollock said that the major studios said they were heartily in accord with the publishers association. The major studios are all members of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America which enforces a code of conduct for both movies and movie advertising.

Offer Change In County Government

Special to Post-Crescent

Green Bay — Supv. Leo Bordeleau of the suburban town of Ashwaubenon in Brown county has proposed a county board-citizen study group to examine improvement of county government in Wisconsin. He suggested 4-year terms for elected administrative officials and abolishing the jobs of sheriff, coroner and surveyor.

In a resolution to be introduced at the board session Tuesday, Bordeleau asked that James Francois, board chairman, be authorized to name a study group of three board members and four citizens, representing such groups as the League of Women Voters. He proposed that the committee state its conclusions to the board next February in order to permit the board to send its recommendations to the 1959 legislature.

The changes suggested by Bordeleau would require constitutional amendments to be approved by the legislature and statewide referendums.

Garbage Is Property, Arizona Official Says

Phoenix, Ariz.—Is garbage property? Yes, says Arizona Atty. Gen. Robert Morrison.

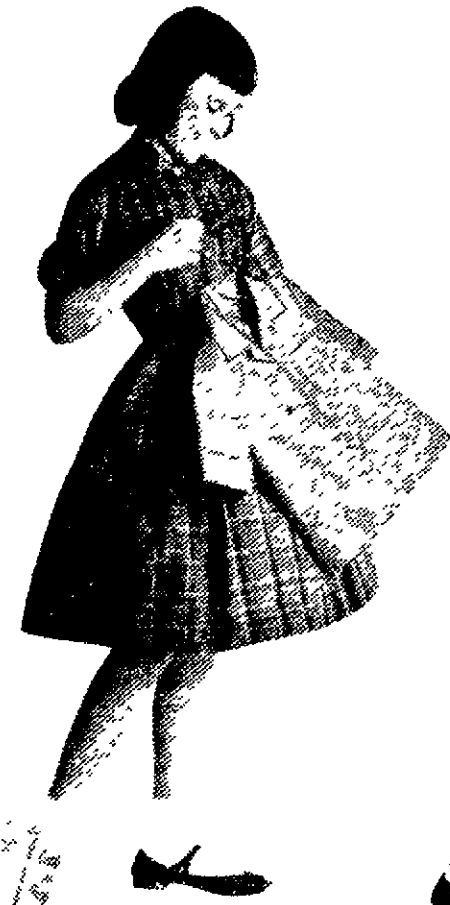

Garbage companies claimed they should not be under jurisdiction of the state's corporation commission because they were not common carriers of property.

But Morrison said in a formal opinion that the word "property" is broad enough to include garbage and refuse—and, therefore, the companies are considered subject to commission regulation.

Thilmany Plans Tours of Plant On Family Days

Affairs Scheduled
In Conjunction With
75th Anniversary

Kaukauna—"Family Days" are being planned at the Thilmany Pulp and Paper company in conjunction with its observance of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the company this fall.

The days will run from Sept. 15 through 19 at which time families of Thilco employees will be given the opportunity to tour the mill and receive a comprehensive view of the processes involved in paper manufacture. Visitors will also be able to see where the wage earner in the family spends his working hours.

The days will be primarily for families of employees and is not to be considered as an open house although a few special groups will be invited to tour the plant during the same week. The Papermobile will be located at Thilmany during the tour week and the Thilco packaging exposition will be erected.

Tour Schedule
Plans call for two tours each day, one starting at 9 o'clock in the morning and the second at 6:40 in the afternoon. These times were selected to permit every employee to bring his family to the mill for a tour, regardless of his working shift during the week.

Visitors cars will be parked in the Upper Mill lot from where people will walk to the ball diamond for the Papermobile and Thilco packaging displays. Buses will be provided for shuttle service between the Upper and Lower mills.

Families of paper machine workers and paper testers will visit the plant on Monday, pulp mill, power and decorating will take families for tours on Tuesday, asphalt, finishing and garage workers will bring families on Wednesday, maintenance and repair, salvage and other departments will bring families on Thursday, bag mill, supercalenders, wax and polyethylene, materials handling and shipping will bring families on Friday. The office, laboratory, sales and engineering people are to be scheduled by Robert Kinder throughout the week to provide as nearly equal a number each night as possible.

Members of the Thilco Management club will serve as tour guides and soft drinks will be served on the ball diamond by the Thilco Girls club. Children under 12 years of age will not be permitted to make the tours because of hazards from large machinery.

Complete Five Major Projects at Kimberly

Summer Construction Work Includes
Two Streets, Sunset Point Improvement

Kimberly—Five major construction projects have been completed this summer here, according to street commissioner Eugene Hietpas. Largest of the jobs was the reconstruction of Second street from Willow to Railroad streets. This was followed by a 2-part addition to the municipal garage, a shelter house, Point park and reconstruction of Lincoln street between Kimberly and Maes avenues.

The work on Second street included concrete curb and gutter and a hot asphalt street surface. Cost of the work including the alleyways and approaches was $43,694.

Garage Addition
The addition to the municipal garage furnishes needed space for the storage of street department equipment. One part of the addition is 50 by 80 feet while the other is 40 by 54 feet.

Cost of the addition was $17,416.75. The structure is made of concrete block and it adjoins the garage building which was remodeled two years ago.

Many improvements have been made at the Sunset Point park and two major ones are the comfort station and shelter house. The station was built for $6,847 while cost of the shelter was $7,752.

Features of the station include modern toilet facilities. The shelter has two fireplaces, under roof for the protection of large gatherings.

In addition a playground, equipment has been installed. L. C. Smith is in charge of overall supervision. Robert Beaupre will be in charge of department activities. Robert Kinder will handle special groups. Clifford Kemp will be in charge of services and Norman Zanzig will be in charge of company displays.

The losers scored a run in the first inning on a single, a wild pitch, a passed ball and a fielder's choice. The winners scored after loading the bases on an error, walk and a single. Marvin "Dago" Schuler, losing hurler, allowed four hits while Don Lemke, winner, limited the Fox Valley team to a single hit.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly. So they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

State Highway Rebuilding On Schedule

$74,000,000 to be spent Improving 2,200 Miles of Roads

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Improvement and reconstruction of the state's inter-regional system of state highways is proceeding on schedule, the state highway department reports.

In the first 3-year cycle of the big state arterial highway improvement program authorized by the legislature of 1955, the department has committed expenditures for projects totalling $74,000,000. The aggregate is slightly above the amount that was budgeted when the system was enacted into law by the legislature.

It consists of about 2,200 miles of state trunk roads—out of a total of 12,000 on the state system—designated as routes of major inter-regional significance and importance and major traffic attraction.

Higher Standards
The legislature directed that the arterial system be improved according to higher design and service standards than applied to the usual state trunk highways.

The arterial system is not to be confused with the so-called interstate system, of which 452 miles has been designated for Wisconsin, which is being built largely at the initiative and under financing of the national government to provide a national inter-regional network of super roads built according to what are commonly accepted toll road standards.

Major encumbrances during the first cycle of work on the arterial system include nearly $13,000,000 on Highway 41 in the eastern part of the state, more than $10,000,000 on Highway 51 which bisects Wisconsin in the center, nearly $7,000,000 on Highway 29 in the north-central part, nearly $21,000,000 on Highway 141 in the eastern counties, more than $10,000,000 on Highway 151, and more than $6,000,000 on Highway 53 in the northwest, among other major segments.

Teddy Nadler Only $500 From Top Winnings

New York — Teddy Nadler today was $500 from the top amount ever won by an individual on television quiz show programs.

The St. Louis former U.S. civil service clerk added $10,000 to his winnings Sunday night on CBS-TV's "The $64,000 Challenge."

He reached $242,000 by defeating Miss Urana Clarke on an $8,000 question and John Most at the $2,000 level.

Miss Clarke was a musician and writer from Westport, Conn. Most is a sports announcer from Brookline, Mass. Miss Clarke failed to answer a question on classical music and Most failed on a baseball question.

Nadler tied Mrs. Dolores Brown, a New York City housewife, at $4,000 in their ancient history category. Their match will resume next week.

Robert Strom, an 11-year-old science whiz from the Bronx, is the top money winner of TV quiz shows with $242,500.

have such funny names?" The show starts about Oct. 1. . . . CBS-TV President Louis E. Cowan says his network will offer only five quiz shows and eight westerns and adventure shows in prime times this season. The rest of the 40 prime half-hour segments will feature an hour or more of drama nightly for five nights and the return of comedy, probably in combination with variety and music.

The TV quiz show "Dotto" has been dropped by the two networks which carried it and by its sponsor. No reason for the cancellation during the weekend was given by the networks, NBC and CBS, or by the sponsor. The quiz had been appearing on CBS-TV from 10:30 to 11 o'clock Monday through Friday mornings and on NBC-TV at 8 o'clock at night. "Top Dollar," a regular Saturday night feature on CBS, takes the place of "Dotto" beginning today on CBS.

"Top Dollar" continues in CBS' Saturday night lineup, through Aug. 30. The NBC version of "Dotto" will be taken over Tuesday night by the "Colgate Theatre."

85th Congress Called Productive

Few Strictly Partisan Fights; Worked as Unified Institution

BY WILLIAM S. WHITE

Washington—The least partisan peacetime congress in memory—and the most quietly productive in legislative achievements—is drawing to a close.

This, the 85th congress, has been undramatic, un-bitter—and in strictly head-line terms rather uninteresting. It has made no great national issue.

But at no time has it divided the nation. It has operated with almost none of the violent debates that used to be commonplace.

This is the extraordinary fact of this second and final session of the 85th: On precisely two of 20 major issues there have been strictly partisan fights. These two issues have been farm and labor legislation.

Thus, though this congress has been under Democratic control, its work has not been Democratic as such. Rather, it has been simply congressional—the product of a unified institution rather than of competing parties.

And this institution has usually led President Eisenhower.

er rather than being led by him. Traditionally, it is the White House that demands a well-defined legislative program and the congress that replies yes, no, or perhaps.

Laid Program
But the 85th congress has, on the whole, laid out the program itself. It has, of course, sometimes accepted presidential recommendations. But mainly it has been the initiating force, as well as the concluding force, in legislative policy.

More than any other term, the word "professionalism" best describes these operations. The senate has had two oddly-matched party leaders in Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas for the Democrats and Sen. William F. Knowland of California for the Republicans.

In many ways, they could not be more different. Johnson is a subtle, imaginative and temperamental floor-marshal. He is the albatross "pro"—and considered so even by those who disapprove of him—that the senate has known in generations. Knowland is stolid, immovable and heavy.

He is, however, a granite monument of a man in personal and legislative integrity—a man with whom agreements can be made without the slightest doubt that they will be kept at any cost.

Senate Typified
In the house, two leaders with 80 years of congressional service between them have been drawn together more than ever before. They are Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas for the Democrats and Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts for the Republicans.

It has been the senate, however, which has most typified this new kind of congress. And the senate has reflected Johnson's policies of moderation and what he calls responsibility. By responsibility he means a refusal ever to commit his party to opposition merely for opposition's sake.

Whether all this has been good depends largely on the question: good for whom? It seems hardly debatable that the immediate interests of the country have been promoted by a calm and constructive congress.

It seems hardly more debatable that the personal interests of Democratic congressmen have been served. For in two previous congressional elections, during the height of power of a Republican president—in 1954 and in 1956—the same Johnson policies returned Democratic majorities to both houses.

What is entirely debatable, however, is the effect of the Johnson approach on the presidential election in 1960. Will the accumulating years of this approach—which mutes controversy and issue-making and always demands mere action—well serve or ill serve the Democratic presidential nominee?

Stokely Wants To Buy Tract Owned by City

Seeks About .7 of Acre on W. Spencer At City Home Site

Stokely-Van Camp, Inc., today offered to buy about .7 of an acre adjacent to company property off the 1800 block of W. Spencer street.

V. E. Quakenbush, company manager in Appleton, asked the city to set a price on two contiguous tracts 83 by 90 feet and 119 by 187 feet.

Stokely-Van Camp, he said, is short of equipment and canned goods storage space and has been renting or leasing warehouse space at different, widely separated points in the city.

The company, he said, would like to build a warehouse 110 by 260 feet on the property.

The letter probably will be read at Wednesday's council meeting and be forwarded to

The boys at Joe Grishaber's tavern, 1928 E. John street, a trifle put out by the delay in picking a site for the proposed south side swimming pool, are ready to resort to drastic methods.

"We're going to put Ald. Tommy Schneider up on the roof of the tavern—in one of those plastic swimming pools," says Joe. "And, we're not going to let him come down until we've got that pool for sure."

The boys figure, Grishaber says, that if Bob Bandy can do it for a youth center, Schneider can do it for the pool.

Plans for a platform are on the drawing boards, Grishaber reports, and one of the fellows is out looking for an ice pick for Schneider "because it looks like he'll be up there most of the winter."

Rotary Speech

Milton Schreiner, branch manager of the Foxboro company, Appleton, will speak on instrumentation at the Rotary club meeting Tuesday noon at the Conway hotel.

the board of public works for study.

Stokely-Van Camp cans peas, beets, carrots and the like from a plant at 1820 W. Spencer. It employs about 300 workers.

The sale would leave the city with a tract about 270 feet by 176 feet, 6 inches, part of which is the site of the city home.

There has been talk for about two years of the city using the land for construction of a new street department building, but no action has been taken.

Bob Bandy Came Down from his canvas-paneled tower atop the Balliet hotel about 7:45 Saturday night, aided by city firemen. The WAPL disc jockey, reportedly somewhat weak after 43 days in his hotel perch, mounted the platform July 4, announcing he would not come down until 200,000 cards, letters and calls asked him to. Station officials said they quit counting Saturday afternoon when the total hit 210,000. The stunt's announced purpose was to create interest in a Fox Cities youth center. Station officials said they now will present the promised $1,000 to city officials. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Lawrence Says:
Tennessee, Too,
Casts Its Vote
For Segregation

Doesn't Accept Idea
That Supreme Court Has Final Authority

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — The people of Tennessee — like the people of Arkansas — have just expressed themselves against integration of the races in public schools.

Contrary to the erroneous impression derived from first news reports of the 4-cornered contests for governor of Tennessee, an analysis of the final figures shows that 61.5 per cent of the votes in the Democratic primary were cast for the so-called "segregationist" candidates. There was no candidate for governor in the Republican primary, so the Democratic primary result is equivalent to election.

The two leading candidates in the Democratic gubernatorial contest were outspoken against integration. The other two were called moderates but actually they declared in the campaign that they did not favor racial mixing.

The winner of the primary, Buford Ellington, polled 213,189 votes. The runnerup, Judge Andrew Taylor, received 204,367. This means a total of 417,556 for the "segregationists" as against the 260,907 polled by the other two candidates combined.

Favored Segregation
Thus Tennessee voted about 61.5 per cent in favor of the out-and-out segregationist candidates as compared with Arkansas' 70 per cent for the same classification.

What probably led to a widespread misinterpretation that Tennessee had deviated from the pattern in Arkansas was the emphasis in the first news reports on the renomination of Sen. Albert Gore in the Democratic primary. This was natural, because he did not sign the "southern manifesto" three years ago and has been called a moderate. But it is significant that he told the voters this time that he would "vigorously oppose" any attempt to "force our children into unwanted social mixing."

Buford Ellington, the next governor, who had the backing of retiring Gov. Frank Clement, has promised to close any public school where there is a serious controversy over court-ordered integration. Mr. Ellington in his campaign said he was "no fence straddler" and is definitely "opposed to integration."

Judge Taylor, who was the runner-up in the race, based his campaign on the proposal that the governor "should have the power and authority to close a school in the event federal troops marched into Tennessee to enforce the integration decree."

Not Final Authority

What the Tennessee and Arkansas elections show is that a majority of the people in each state do not accept the idea that the supreme court has said the last word. The voters, to be sure, do not read a lot of legalistic documents before they cast their ballots, but they do listen to the speakers who repeatedly quote the words of the tenth amendment in the Bill of Rights which specifically declares that all powers not delegated to the federal government by the constitution are reserved to the states or to the people.

Nowhere in the constitution is the word "education" mentioned as a power delegated to the federal government. The people of Tennessee and Arkansas, therefore, feel that the obligation of each state is to give every child an "equal" education irrespective of race or color.

History For South

Although this correspondent was born and raised in the north, attended both an integrated grade school and high school, and has no personal objection to integration in the public schools, he concedes that the legal facts of history are on the side of the south. This is because the fourteenth amendment, on which the supreme court based its desegregation decision of 1954 was never legally ratified.

The tenth amendment, therefore, would seem to be controlling. Under its basic principle each state has the sovereign right to decide for itself which pupils shall be admitted to particular schools or classrooms.

Better to Cancel Wedding Plans Than Marry Lazy Lout

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: Our 18-year-old daughter, was engaged to marry a boy 19. A few days ago I was preparing to send out the invitations and she suddenly said, "Don't mail them, Mother. It's all off." She gave me no reason and refuses to discuss it.

Landers

The church is reserved, the photographer engaged and all plans are set. I've suspected trouble between them for several months. The boy says he can't find a job and our daughter has criticized him for staying in bed until 2:00 P.M. He says "Why get up, there's nothing doing."

She's ambitious and has worked after school since age 15. At present she has a fine position. What is the correct thing to do under the circumstances? What do we tell people? That is very embarrassing.—W.P.F.

Cancel everything. And thank your lucky stars that your daughter had the courage to change her mind. You owe your friends no explanation. This is a personal matter.

It's clear the girl decided not to support the lazy lout. Now that she's regained consciousness treat the incident as if it never happened.

DEAR ANN: Why is it the more you do for relatives the less thanks you get? My wife's brother and his family rented from us for 10 years. We let them have the house for much less than we could have got from strangers.

Their kids wrote on the walls and chipped plaster off the ceiling (don't ask me how they got up there). They pounded 48 holes in the walls hanging up pictures of Elvis Presley. The yard looks like a jungle.

They told us last week they are moving "to a better neighborhood" (we live next door). When we asked them to please put the house back in shape they said "It's 10 years older now, and houses depreciate."

What do you expect? Please tell me why are relatives this way?—DISGUSTED

Relatives don't treat each other worse than strangers, it just SEEMS worse because they're relatives.

This rental deal was foolish from the word go. You wouldn't have permitted strangers to move in and wreck your property, so why did you let your relatives get away with it?

These people took advantage of you, but then they'd have taken advantage of ANYBODY. You gave 'em the chance.

DEAR ANN: If I wrote the story of my life no magazine would buy it. They'd say such things don't happen. Please stick with me and tell me what to do.

I married a handsome, devoted man 14 years ago. I knew we would have no children because of a childhood disease which left him sterile. He didn't try to deceive me.

A few months ago he told me a friend of his was in a jam. He asked me to trust him and ask no questions. I agreed. He moved an attractive 24-year-old girl into our home. She appeared to be about six months pregnant. I stuck to my bargain and asked no questions—until I caught them together at 4:00 A.M. I moved out the next day.

We've lived apart seven weeks. He pays my rent and gives me a generous allowance. But I want HIM, not support money. In the meantime I miss my lovely home. What shall I do?—E.D.W.

You need a doctor (for your head) if you permit another woman to shove you out of your home.

Have a meeting with your husband at once. Give him 24 hours to get the girl out of the house. This "handsome and devoted" mate of 14 years has plenty of explaining to do. Hear him out. In the meantime, see a doctor. YOU may be sterile. Whatever his explanation, please let me know. It must be a beauty.

MODEL MEASUREMENTS

HEIGHT	BOSOM
5'0"-5'3"	32"-33"
5'4"-5'6"	34"-35"
5'7"-5'10"	36"-38"

More Curve for Bosom

An oversized hip can make a normal bosom appear underprivileged, just by comparison. Not realizing that fact, many a damsel exercises like mad to increase her bustline when for perfection, she should be reducing her hip-line. And, terrible thought, the effort is just so much waste motion!

Should you desire more curve for the bosom, you would be wise to make sure of what you go about. The first step is to calculate your model proportions this way: 1. Measure your height without shoes. 2. Locate your height on the chart above, and alongside you will find your model bosom measurement. 3. Your model hip measurement is the same as the bosom.

Now measure yourself and see how close you come to the ideal. As a result, there can be no doubt as to your course: Do developing exercises for a bosom that falls under par measurements. But with a normal bosom and a heavy hip, take to trimming the hip. Should both problems plague you, combine the bosom builders and the hip trimmers. In no time, model proportions will be your pride!

Collegiate Misses Don 2-Piece Coordinates, Versatile Suits

Versatile Suits, Always Favorites with the campus crowd, remain high on the fashion list this year with longer jackets and larger collars. At left is Nancy Wendlandt, 2311 Hammond avenue, modeling a red, green and navy plaid wool suit with a bow adding size to the new larger collar. A belt effect at the hipline details the jacket, topping a slim skirt with front kick pleat. She wears a black feather hat. A heavier walking suit is worn at right by Miss Jean Lochschmidt, 521 E. Kimberly avenue, Kimberly. The outfit is 85 per cent wool and 15 per cent camel hair in a solid camel color. The jacket falls below hip length. A fringed scarf and the jacket lining are of orange jersey. Miss Lochschmidt's skirt is straight-lined and the jacket features two flap pockets on each side. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Chemise-Inspired Easy Lines are headed for the campus classroom this fall in 2-piece coordinates like the pair above. The revival of the vest is shown at left in an all-wool plaid hip length fashion over a permanently pleated skirt in the same plaid. Worn under the vest is a silk-like but washable long-sleeved blouse of a miracle fiber. A velvet hat in the new high pillbox style accents the costume. Evidence of the season's longer tops and disappearing waistlines is at right. The same bold plaid, this time highlighted by solid color jersey trim, is found in a slim skirt and hip length overblouse with a turn-over collar. Modeling the casual outfits is Miss Donna Mae Neumann, 1226 S. Perkins street. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Our Children

Teach Child to Keep Rough Play Outside House, Patri Suggests

BY ANGELO PATRI

Boys of eight to ten and some even older like to wrestle and race about the house, upsetting the arrangements considerably and their mothers' patience even more. Some fathers are likely to say, "Oh, let them live. They're only kids. Boys are no kittens." No, they're no kittens, but they don't need to be horses in the house, either. Everybody knows that growing boys and girls must have active play, and sometimes very rough play. They need to run, jump, climb, shout—but the open air is the place for that, not the house. The house should be peaceful as far as possible when there are children in it. This is for their sakes as well as for their weary mothers and fathers. Then too, there is the matter of good manners to be considered. This is an important part of child rearing. To know how to enter a room, how to sit in a chair, how to behave in relation to other people and how to eat at a table are matters thoughtful parents concern themselves about. If children are allowed to romp and frolic about the house, they will not be amenable to instruction about good manners. There must be an atmosphere of calm if children are to be taught good house manners. We have all had something to do with children who were not taught how to behave in the house. They left a trail of

Pin-Ups to Pintos Is Painter's Life Story
West Orange, N.J. — As a painter, Allen F. Brewer, Jr., has gone from pin-ups to pintos. He is now one of the country's leading painters of horses. But two decades ago Brewer worked his way through Yale painting pin-up girls with innocent pastoral scenes on the other side so that they could be switched when parents came to visit. He has since moved from here to Kentucky but on a recent visit he says he still does pin-ups — on the backs of playing cards.

Culbertson on Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

It doesn't require much bridge genius to realize that a hand which fits partner's is greatly superior to a hand that doesn't, but this matter of a fit is nevertheless carried too far by both so-so players and many experts. Here is proof:

clubs, while North was bidding hearts and spades. The trend of bidding convinced North that no fit could be found in any suit, which was relatively true, of course — and so North decided to discount his own 19-point holding in favor of safety. The consequence was that he let South play the hand at three no trump — which was certainly safe enough, in all respects!

The other North did not make quite such a fetish of "fit." This was the auction at his table:

South	West	North	East
1 D	Pass	2 H	Pass
3 C	Pass	3 S	Pass
3 N T	Pass	4 D	Pass
5 D	Pass	6 D	(end)

In a sense North trapped his own partner by first bidding four diamonds and then carrying South's forced rebid to a slam, but in a deeper sense North showed true imagination. He realized that even with only king-small in trumps, he might provide a club ruff for South that would make all the difference.

West opened the spade jack, and after winning, South immediately tried the club finesse. It failed, but declarer won out nevertheless, shutting out what appeared to be a

Actor's Illness Causes Delay in Plane Flight

Las Vegas, Nev. —(AP)—Sudden illness of Actor Edward G. Robinson caused an American Air Lines plane, flying nonstop from New York to Los Angeles, to make an emergency landing at McCarran field here Sunday.

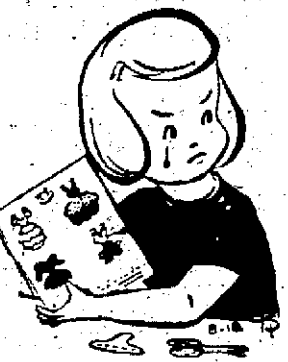

Robinson was taken by ambulance to Southern Nevada Memorial hospital. After treatment for a bladder condition the 64-year-old actor was released.

Mrs. Robinson said she and her husband would continue their trip to Los Angeles as soon as they could book another flight. The couple had been in the east to attend a funeral, Mrs. Robinson said.

sure trump for the defense. He won West's spade continuation, cashed the club ace and ruffed a club low on the table, ditched his last club on the high spade, and then cashed the top hearts and led another heart. It didn't matter what East did at this point—he actually discarded his last spade. South ruffed, led the trump seven to the king and played another heart. He overruled East's forced play of a trump, laid down the trump ace — and "claimed."

Hospitality Requires No Repayment

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Some months ago I invited four ladies to a very nice lunch party. I really outdid myself to have everything just perfect. They were profuse in their thanks when they left but only one of them has invited me to anything since. Isn't there a time limit when it comes to returning invitations?

Answer: Such an obligation of courtesy depends upon circumstances. If these guests have given a number of parties since your luncheon, you might have reason to feel slighted at not having been asked. If they are not in the habit of entertaining, they might properly make a return in whatever way they find possible such as sending you a few flowers, or doing you whatever kindnesses they can think of. Acceptance of hospitality does not require payment in kind.

Seating Problem

Dear Mrs. Post: Our oldest son has been going steady with a girl for about six months. They are not engaged. This is our problem: We are having a Bar Mitzvah for our 14-year-old son and want to invite this girl. Shall we seat her at the family table or at another table with people she knows? Wouldn't our son be committing himself if she sat at our table?

Answer: As she is not engaged to your son it will be better to seat her at a table with people she knows rather than at your family table.

Rising to Shake Hands

Dear Mrs. Post: Does an elderly lady ever have to rise to shake hands with anyone? That is, would she be considered rude not to do so? Answer: Every lady in her own house rises to shake hands with all of her guests — unless she is infirm. In the house of another, an elderly lady is expected to rise only when a personage of distinction is presented to her.

Number of Apprentices In State Down

Commission Shows Concern About Trend In Trades, Crafts

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — The number of indentured apprentices in the trades and crafts is declining, and the state industrial commission which supervises the apprenticeship training program is worried about it.

The population and the country are growing, but the number of apprentices is declining.

The combination makes for a prospective shortage of skilled hands, the commission says in a bulletin to employers and labor organizations.

Graduating apprentices are not being replaced as fast as the completions occur, according to the trend observed recently. There are now fewer than 7,000 indentures on record for the whole state.

Aware of Factors The commission apprenticeship division, headed by veteran Supv. Walter Simon, said it is aware of some of the negative factors involved.

"With some journeymen mechanics either unemployed or only working part-time, the trades see little justification for hiring new apprentices. That attitude is quite understandable.

"But there is no escaping the fact," the bulletin went on, "that the dwindling supply of apprentices and journeymen will seriously affect this country's possible skilled manpower requirements in 1960 or 1962. Considering defense needs, the growing population and the competition of foreign markets, the number of apprentices ought to be on the increase instead of on the decline."

Appleton Police Win Trophy In Valley Pistol Competition

Appleton policemen won the Fox Valley Shoot Class A team trophy with a score of 4,623 out of a possible 4,800. The team received the trophy at a dinner for members of the Fox Valley Shoot—policemen of Green Bay, Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac and Manitowoc.

It was the first round of shooting for the organization. The Fox Valley Shoot was organized to give policemen a chance to shoot under competitive conditions with an eye to preparing for the statewide shoot and to give younger policemen a chance to get into competitive shooting.

Members of the winning Appleton team are Detective Sgt. Norbert J. Marx and Patrolmen Harold Blessman, Donald Pekarske and Jerome Kavaney.

The Neenah police team won the Class B trophy with 4,504 points out of 4,800. Its members are Leorman Konitzer, Rupert Lehman and Lee Parrott. Konitzer also won first place and an individual trophy for Class B rapid fire. Appleton Patrolman Erwin E. Lietz was second. Pekarske also won second place in the Class A individual and Class A rapid fire shoots.

Top man in the shoot was Donald Cuene, of the Green Bay department, who won the traveling Neils Miller champion of champions trophy. He took first place in the Class A individual and Class A rapid fire shoots.

Following Appleton in team scores were Green Bay, second, and Oshkosh, third.

58-Year-Old Man Gets Degree After 36 Years

Covington, Va. — Just about the proudest of 1958 college graduates is the Rev. Richard Guy Shelton, 58. He got his A. B. degree from Randolph Macon college 36 years after beginning his work at the college in 1922.

Financial difficulties forced him to drop out of school. Then came the depression of the 1930's and it took him 13 years to repay money he had borrowed to go to school.

In 1945 he decided to get that degree. He used extension courses and went to night school while serving as pastor of Mr. Carmel Methodist church and working week days as supervisor in the finishing and dyeing room of a rayon plant. He passed his final examinations with flying colors.

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — Steven Atkins, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Atkins, route 2, Neenah, was bitten by a dog owned by Ernest Phillips, route 1, Neenah, while the Atkinses were visiting the Phillips Saturday afternoon.

The boy was taken to Theda Clark hospital where he received numerous stitches in the scalp and cheek. The dog is being checked for rabies.

Arson Probe Continues at Log Inn Tavern

'No Reason for
Accident,' State
Official Says

Neenah — Officials this morning were still investigating Friday night's fire which leveled the Log Inn tavern on Highway 41 in the town of Menasha.

The possibility of arson gained more prominence when Deputy State Fire Marshal Earl Schwabe said this morning that "there is no reason to suspect an accidental fire. Whatever started the fire was destroyed in the blaze."

Schwabe, Neenah Fire Chief John Zick, and John Huebner, chief of the town of Neenah-Menasha volunteer department investigated the ruins.

Schwabe said that they were still talking to people who might know something about the fire, and that they were about one-third of the way through the list this noon. He said they expected to complete the investigations this afternoon or Tuesday morning.

The possibility of arson was suspected as soon as the building caught fire at 8:40 Friday night. Several witnesses reported seeing a car drive behind the log building five minutes before flames broke out.

The building was owned by the Oshkosh Power Boat club, and was to have been moved Saturday to a new location on the north shore of Lake Butte des Morts.

The boat club purchased it from the state at auction several weeks ago. It had been sold to the state in July to make room for the Highway 41 relocation project. The building was formerly owned by Roland Hopfensperger, Appleton, who leased it to Clark.

Coroner Decides Death Was Not Due To Pill Overdose

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — Dr. G. A. Steele, Winnebago county coroner, Saturday said the death of Mrs. Frank Seivers, 52, 1202 Pearl avenue, on Thursday was due to a heart attack rather than an overdose of tranquilizers.

Her body was found in the bedroom of her residence with an empty tranquilizer bottle nearby. Later investigation with her family physician, the drug firm which supplied the pills and the undertaker led to the decision death was due to a heart condition, Dr. Steele said. Although she had taken several of the pills, emptying the bottle, there were not enough to cause death, he added.

Set Deadline For County ASC Program

Rate Applications
Must Be Completed
By Sept. 12 Date

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — The deadline for applications for the 1959 soil bank program is Sept. 12, Lloyd Jones, chairman of the Winnebago county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, reminded today.

The first step interested producers must take is to apply to the county ASC committee at 505 Main street, Oshkosh, for the establishment of a rate. The deadline for rate applications is Sept. 12.

Those producers who apply for rates may file an application for a contract after the rate has been supplied. The contract deadline date is Sept. 26.

Details of the 1959 program were explained at a district meeting at Portage: Winnebago county representatives at that meeting were Jones, Carl Rorchart, Sr., George Framberger, Thomas C. Webster and Agnes Ellis.

Change Program

Jones stated the acreage reserve part of the soil bank program under which farmers in Wisconsin were paid for setting aside corn, wheat or tobacco land will not be in effect in 1959. This leaves available the conservation reserve of the soil bank under which farmers set aside land normally cropped on their farms for 3, 5 or 10-year periods.

Conservation reserve rates for the 1959 signers have been increased although individual rates set for each farm will vary above or below the county average, depending on the productivity and land value of the acres set aside on the farm. If a farmer places all the eligible land on his farm under contract he will receive a 10 per cent higher rate than if he places only part of his eligible land under contract.

Farmers who offer their land at a rate below the maximum set for their farms will have first priority in case all who apply cannot be covered by funds available.

The state average for Wisconsin has been set at $15 per acre per year compared with a former rate of $11 per acre. Application for a rate does not obligate a farmer to participate in the program.

2 Committee Meets

Menasha — The city ordinance and resolution committee will meet at 4:30 and committee of the whole at 7 o'clock this evening at the city offices, City Clerk Ira Cough announced this morning.

To Keep the Menasha Municipal swimming pool water as clean or cleaner than drinking water, two to three million gallons of water are filtered daily. Contained in the filtering house are a number of pipes and valves, being operated by Harold Elton, pool supervisor, and Gary Ashrenbrenner, left to right in the upper picture. To counteract the acidity of the swimming water after it is filtered, Pelton and Jim Schueppert are pouring in soda ash in the lower picture. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Unique Filter System Used at Menasha Pool

Water Kept as Clean as Drinking Liquid;
Two to Three Million Gallons Changed Daily

Menasha — The water children and adults swim in at the city's Municipal swimming pool is kept as clean as drinking water by a unique filtering system which changes the water four times a day and filters two to three million gallons of the liquid daily.

According to Harry Pelton, pool supervisor, the water put in the pool at the beginning of the season is used throughout the year. The only time extra water is added is due to evaporation and when water is lost through backwashing.

About a week before the pool opens it is scrubbed thoroughly with a muratic solution of acid and then hosed out.

Once the pool is filled with water from city mains the filtering action begins. The filters are huge tubs resembling washing machines and each has a 2-inch thick steel separation plate with a series of holes.

Federal Housing Measure Killed

Washington — The house today killed a cut-down federal housing bill denounced by administration Republicans as extravagant and inflationary.

The action appeared to have ended all chances of enactment of new housing legislation this session. Before the vote, house speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) said no other bill would be considered.

The measure failed to obtain the two-thirds vote necessary for passage under the short-cut procedure by which it was called up.

The bill would have provided $400 million for slum elimination and urban renewal projects in the cities, and additional amounts for college dormitories and classrooms and housing for the elderly. It also would have made direct loans available for veteran home loans.

Menasha Man in Jail as Police Probe Attack

Neenah — A 27-year-old Menasha man is being held in the county jail without charge as investigations continue on an assault and battery committed Sunday night.

A Neenah woman, 34, told police that she was attacked by the man at about 9:05 Sunday night on N. Commercial street, near the old Chicago and North Western Railway freight house.

The man followed her about half a block on the street, she said, and then grabbed her arm and tried to drag her behind the freight house, saying, "Don't say a word, just come along with me."

The woman screamed and was aided in her flight from the assailant by another man, who was mailing a letter across the street.

Police picked up the suspect in the 100 block of E. Forest avenue a few moments later. He was identified both by the woman and other man. The man was detained overnight in the Menasha jail and taken to Oshkosh this morning.

Unique Filter System Keeps Pool Clean

are put through the holes in the plate. The water enters the bottom of the filters and is forced through the individual tubes, on top of which are sheets made of nylon cloth, and out through the top into the pool.

In the beginning, the filter runs only for a 2 to 3-hour period as all of the pipes in the pool discharge rust from the winter layover. After a day, the filter runs increase in length until the filters run for two days without being backwashed.

The pumps normally pump 1,800 gallons per minute and backwashing, when all of the diamaceous earth and impurities are dumped out of the filters as waste, is done when the coating on the filter tube sheets building to a point where the gallons per minute decreases to 1,000.

In addition to filtering the water, chlorine is added to prevent algae and germs from accumulating. This is done by use of chlorine gas entering the water under pressure in the wet well and being diffused through the filters into the pool. Because the chlorine is acid, soda ash is then added to the counteract the acidity of the water and make it alkaline.

Neenah — A back flash from a boiler at the Hardwood Products corporation of Neenah, Wis., started a fire about 4:50 this morning but the company's automatic sprinkler system extinguished it before any damage could be caused. Three Neenah fire trucks answered the alarm, but did not fight the blaze.

List Hints on Buying, Cleaning, Preparing Fish, Top Protein Food

Neenah — An excellent food for supplying the family with protein, minerals and vitamins is fresh-water fish. It adds variety to meals whether frozen, canned or caught by the family fisherman and compares favorably with meat in supplying good quality protein.

Compared with the other protein foods, meat and poultry, fish is an excellent buy and if bought in fish markets on the day it arrives, top quality fish can be obtained. The University of Wisconsin Extension service lists the following points to look for in selecting fish. The eyes should be bright, clear and bulging; gills should be bright red; scales should cling tightly to the skin and be bright and shiny and the flesh should be firm and elastic and sprung back when pressed.

Quantity
To determine the quantity when shopping, whole or round fish as they come fresh from the water should have one pound per serving and dressed fish, which are scaled, and have the head, tail and fins removed, should be 1/2 to 3/4 pounds per serving.

Fileted fish, with the sides cut lengthwise away from the backbone is sufficient in 1/2 to 1-3/4 pounds per serving. To clean fish wear a pair of canvas gloves or dip the fingers in salt. Fish should be placed in boiling water for a few seconds for easier scaling. The fish should be clutched firmly near the tail with one hand. Using a saw-toothed knife or scale remover, scrape off the scales, working from the tail to the head slantwise on each side. Preparations

Another method of preparing fish is skinning, which some homemakers find faster than scaling. The fish should also be dipped in boiling water and the large back fin is removed by cutting the flesh along both sides, as in scaling. With a sharp knife, begin near the gills and pull the skin from the flesh on one side. Repeat on the other side and remove the head, tail, fins and entrails.

If hands are rinsed in cold water before touching the fish and washed with hot water and salt after cleaning, a fish odor is prevented.

Attractive garnishes which can be served with a fish dinner include lemon slices or wedges and radishes cut plain or in rose shapes. Sliced cucumber, celery stalks, green pepper rings and chopped parsley add color and pimiento strips, tomato slices and whole or sliced beet pickles lend spice to cooked fish.

Potatoes

Potatoes go with fish like ham goes with eggs and they can be baked, scalloped, parsley buttered or french fried. Green vegetables, including asparagus, broccoli or green beans, give a texture contrast to the food and tossed salad with a tart dressing is a good choice for a fish or seafood meal.

Fried fish is best prepared by slicing the fish into serving size portions and sprinkling both sides with salt and pepper. Then dip in a combination of a beaten egg and milk and place in bread or cracker crumbs.

Place the fish in about 1/2 of an inch of melted fat in a frying pan and fry slowly over moderate heat. When fish is a light golden brown turn carefully and brown the other side. Cooking time is about 10 to 15 minutes.

N. Lawe Asphalt Assessment $1.12 A Foot, City Says

A special assessment of $1.12 a foot is proposed for property owners along N. Lawe street between W. Grant street and W. Glendale avenue.

The charge earlier erroneously was reported at $1 a foot for a 14-inch asphalt mat, the usual charge.

The asphalt will be laid from gutter face to gutter face, not from gutter flange to gutter flange as usual, Director of Public Works Edwin J. Duszynski explained.

The city's assessment policy permits the added 12-cent charge for the additional four feet of width, he said. A flange to flange width is usually 28 feet; the gutter face to gutter face is usually 32 feet.

Macs Clash With League Leaders

Face LC-Kimberly Nine in Valley Loop Makeup Tangle

Menasha — The Menasha Macs will have an opportunity to further tighten the Fox River Valley Baseball league race and avenge a recent setback as well when they entertain Little Chute-Kimberly at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening at the Menasha ball park.

The combination team leads the circuit with seven straight wins. It bested Two Rivers and Harrison over the weekend. A win over the Macs would assure them of a tie for the title.

The Macs upped their record to 4-2 by downing Kaukauna 9-4 at the Electric City Sunday afternoon. They knocked Oshkosh out of the undefeated class last week by edging the former 2-1.

Tuesday's game is a makeup of an Aug. 10 contest, postponed because Little Chute-Kimberly was participating in the state semi-pro meet at Milwaukee that day.

The villagers reached the state meet at the expense of the Menashans, registering a 9-3 win over them in the finals of the district meet. Al Harke was the winning pitcher and John Phillips was assessed with the setback.

The Macs chalked up an 11-2 victory in the first round meeting as Mort Drury picked up the win. The Menashans clipped Harke, Clete Wynborn and Bob Mehlberg for 13 hits.

That loss was Little Chute-Kimberly's first after six straight victories while for the Macs it was their fifth successive win in a string of eight.

Drury or Gene Gries, who tossed the two-hitter at Oshkosh, is expected to pitch for the Macs, probably against Harke or Bob Schmidt.

The Tuesday game will open a busy schedule for the Menasha squad. It entertains Valley Fair in a makeup Thursday evening, battles the "Old-timers" in a booster contest Saturday night and closes the Fox Valley league portion of its schedule Sunday afternoon here against Reedsville. By that time it will be known if the Twin Citizens will be involved in the league playoff.

Neenah — Presbyterian and St. Paul will square off at 8 o'clock tonight at the Recreation field in the feature game on the Neenah Church Softball league schedule.

Presbyterian takes a 6-0 second round record into the final test while St. Paul has 5-0.

A Presbyterian win would automatically give it the championship since tonight's fray is its last of the season. If St. Paul cops, it would have to beat United Brethren - St. Thomas in a makeup test next Monday to get the undisputed crown.

A Presbyterian loss tonight and St. Paul defeat next week would mean a tie for the bunting. "Tex" Harding will pitch for Presbyterian, probably against Darrell Schultz or Charlie Shepard.

St. Paul chalked up an 8-3 triumph in the first meeting behind Charlie Shepard's five hits.

St. Mark and Methodist are matched in the opening test at 6:30. Both teams are winless in second half play. St. Mark came out on top in the first half game.

Don Bretthauer hurled the Merchants to a five-hit win over Jitter's. He didn't strike out anyone but didn't give up any free transportation either.

The Merchants scored six times in the fourth inning on Dave Thiel's single, walks to Bretthauer and Darrell Schultz and successive singles by Lee Peterson, West Perket, Shirden Wiatrowski and Jim Haack.

Successive Doubles

The winners added two in the sixth on a walk, Mike Rohe's single and a pair of Jitter's errors.

Jitter's, twice winners over the Merchants this season, collected a run in the first on back-to-back doubles by Don Delfosse and "Wimpy" Drum and one in the third on Bob Peck's single and a fly ball.

The Merchants made eight hits off Cliff Brinkman, three by Lee Peterson. No other player on either team was able to collect more than one.

Crandall Says Braves' Only Fear Is Fall Into Doldrums of Lethargy

BY CHUCK CAPALDO

Bill Wade Stars In Ram Victory

Throws 2 TD Passes Against Washington 'Skins'

By The Associated Press
Maybe this is the year Bill Wade becomes the kind of quarterback the Los Angeles Rams boasted they were getting when they made the former Vanderbilt ace their bonus pick in the 1952 National Football league draft.

The Rams did their part during the off season when they dealt the passing Dutchman, veteran quarterback Norm Van Brocklin, to the Philadelphia Eagles.

That handed Wade the No. 1 job and, after his first showing in the new pro exhibition season, maybe it was just the push he needed.

Quite a Man
Free of Van Brocklin's shadow, Wade was quite a man in the Rams' 31-10 victory over the Washington Redskins Saturday night in one of five weekend exhibitions that kicked off the pro campaign.

There were 73,164 looking on as Wade—playing all but one minute on offense—fired two touchdown passes and scored another on a 10-yard run.

In other games Saturday, the Cleveland Browns blanked Pittsburgh, 10-0, at Akron, Ohio, and the Philadelphia Eagles won a 30-28 thriller from the Baltimore Colts at Hershey, Pa.

Sunday, the New York Giants, led by ball-hawking Cliff Livingston, beat the 49ers 19-10, at San Francisco, and the Chicago Bears, celebrating the return of George Halas as protest head coach, whipped the Chicago Cardinals, 24-7, at Buffalo, N.Y.

about the fast-fading National league campaign.

"We'll be all right unless we fall into one of our doldrums," he said. "I don't mean over-confidence. I mean lethargy."

"We've had 'em before and no one knows why," he continued.

'Stumble Along'
"We go along for a few games and no one hits. We just stumble along until we snap out of it. That's what we have to guard against."

Few of the Braves made any outright pennant predictions yesterday following their 5-1, 4-1 sweep of a doubleheader from the Phillies. With seven victories in a row, they now have equalled their longest previous winning streak of the season. San Francisco again is in second place.

The closest anyone came to actually talking about a second consecutive flag was Hank Aaron, who said, "If we can win seven of 10 on this western trip, we should have it clinched."

Take More
Actually, it will take more than that. Right now the so-called magic number is 31—any combination of 31 Braves' victories and Giants defeats would give Milwaukee the championship.

Shortstop Johnny Logan, reminded that he had predicted at All-Star time the Braves would win by 10, said his prediction looked better than ever.

"The way we're going," he said, "we should hit 10 by September. I'd be satisfied if we were a head by 10 Sept. 15."

No Limbs
Veteran Andy Pafko wouldn't go on the limb.

"I was with the Dodgers in '51," he said. "Remember that? We were ahead by 13 about this time and lost the pennant to the Giants in a playoff."

For his part, Manager Fred

Haney will be satisfied if he can continue to conserve his manpower and still get the maximum return.

Wes Covington and Billy Bruton, for example, are not playing up to their full capabilities because of injuries.

"If I can get 25 games out of them," Haney said, "I'll be happy. Conservation of manpower is my biggest problem."

Stops Davenport To Gain Split; A's Slug Bluejays

By The Associated Press
League-leading Cedar Rapids and Burlington's Cliff Anderson provided the fireworks in the Three I circuit Sunday.

The Braves made their record eight victories in nine games by sweeping a day-night double feature from Fox Cities, 15-1 and 5-4. Anderson allowed only one hit in the nine-inning second game as the Bees beat Davenport, 4-0, after losing the 4-3 opener.

Winona poured across seven runs in the third inning and went on to trounce second-place Green Bay, 12-1.

Only Hit
The only Davenport hit off of Burlington's Anderson was Don Mincher's single with two out in the seventh. Anderson, who fanned six and walked two, retired the first 17 batters. He has a 7-9 record.

Giants Regain Runner-Up Spot By Beating Cubs

By The Associated Press
Cincinnati knocked the Pittsburgh Pirates out of second place and climbed out of the cellar themselves in the National league Sunday by licking the Pirates twice, 4-3 and 7-5. It was the Redlegs' third victory in the five games since Birdie Tebbetts quit as manager.

Other Sunday games saw San Francisco polish off the Chicago Cubs, 8-6, and Los Angeles and St. Louis split a doubleheader, with the Cards winning the first, 12-7, and the Dodgers copping the second, 9-3.

Tom Acker, primarily a relief pitcher, went all the way in the first game for the Redlegs. Joe Nuxhall won his tenth in the nightcap with the aid of Don Newcombe.

It wasn't until the ninth inning of the opener that the Redlegs iced the decision on Jerry Lynch's run-scoring single. Pinch hitter George Crowe drove in the deciding run in the nightcap in the eighth with the bases loaded.

Regains Second
San Francisco regained second place with its home-run-splattered triumph over Chicago. Leon Wagner, Daryl Spencer and Willie Mays each hit one for the Giants. Mays came with two on. Dale Long, Bobby Thomson and Ernie Banks all connected for the Cubs. Moe Drabowsky was the loser.

Curt Flood and Gene Freese, the first two batters to face Los Angeles starter Sandy Koufax in the opener, hit homers for the Cards. Jim Brosnan, who worked six innings in relief, was the winner.

In the nightcap, southpaw Danny McDevitt went all the way for the Dodgers, and, although he uncorked four wild pitches, he allowed only six hits. Joe Pignatano tagged Jones for a 3-run homer in the sixth.

Stan Horvatin, the league's strikeout leader, fanned 11 and ran his total to 178 in beating Green Bay. Horvatin, who also hit a 2-run homer, allowed only six hits.

afternoon and all six of them appeared ready for combat duty. One of them got in a spot of rough work—Kramer who filled in as a defensive lineman during a brief scrimmage involving the inner line-men.

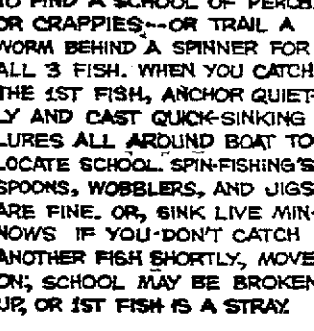

The six newcomers arrived just a bit too late to suit up for practice Saturday afternoon. After workouts Sunday, Taylor and Kramer joined Paul Hornung in field goal practice.

The aforementioned scrimmage was spiced by some fisticuffs between defensive tackle Ken Gray and offensive guard Jim Salisbury.

Also participating in the rough house for the first time was J. D. Kimmel who reported last week. Missing was Nate Borden who was recovering from minor injuries suffered in an auto accident Saturday night.

Looking forward to the Pittsburgh battle is Packer Offensive Coach Nick Skorich whose entire pro career as player and coach has been with Pittsburgh. The Bays aren't scheduled to meet the Steelers during league season.

two sacrifices, the last one by Johnny Logan, were the ingredients that went into making the run.

Two more runs in the seventh, Eddie Mathews' 2-out single accounting for both, wrapped up the double victory.

A painful injury forced Del Rice to leave the first game. He was struck on the neck, near the windpipe, by a foul tip off the bat of Jones in the second inning. He'll be unavailable for two or three days.

The Braves leave by plane today for Los Angeles where they will open a 10-game western trip with a two-night doubleheader Tuesday. Joey Jay, 7-4, and Carl Willey, 8-3, will open for the Braves.

Governor Clips Ribbon Officially Opening Federal Lock at Eureka

BY JAY REED Post-Crescent Outdoor Editor

Berlin—Gov. Vernon Thomson, a self-proclaimed deckhand, led a flotilla of 50 assorted craft into picturesque Riverside park here Saturday, climaxing ceremonies marking official opening of the Eureka lock on the Upper Fox river.

Sporting a cherry-pink sunburn from the hour-and-a-half upriver cruise from Eureka, the Berlin Boat club was granted a license by the army corps of engineers to operate the lock.

Operable Condition After granting the permit, the corps moved in dredging equipment, cleared approaches to the lock and brought the mechanical equipment into operable condition.

A. T. Tellefson, commodore of the Berlin club, said his group will be required to keep the locks in good condition, provide insurance and operate the locks to provide for the reasonable needs of navigation at the time of scheduled operation. At the present time, Tellefson continued, plans are to operate the lock over weekends and on holidays. Other special times of operation may be worked out later.

No Longer Landlocked "The important thing at this point," he said, "is that Berlin no longer is landlocked."

In effect, opening the lock adds 22 miles to the navigable length of the Fox. Boaters from Berlin now can move downstream to the lake while other boat groups can come as far as Berlin.

As recently as a year ago, the lock was threatened with permanent immobility when proposals were being considered to fill it in. The Wisconsin conservation commission had indicated its interest in the area for fish and wildlife development but a commission study brought forth the opinion that the Eureka lock was not essential to development plans.

City Officials Berlin city officials obviously were happy about the opening. Mayor John Schoup and City Atty. Milton Spehr (formerly of Shiocton) both had high praise for Tellefson and the boat club in opening the way to economic and recreational advancement. Joe Tognier, president of the Berlin Chamber of Commerce and Ben Seaman, Berlin automobile dealer, agreed "this is the best thing to happen to this town in a long time."

Son on Hand At Eureka the thick, concrete lock, glistening with fresh black and yellow paint, was lined with about 350 persons who witnessed the ribbon-cutting ceremony. Gov. Thomson and his son, Tommy, were at the head of a motorcade which moved briskly over the sun-soaked Green Lake and Winnebago.

Recognizing the importance of the event to boating interests on the Fox river from Green Bay to Fond du Lac, the Post-Crescent assigned a staff representative to cover the official opening of the federal lock at Eureka Saturday.

the governor addressed about 250 persons assembled at river's edge as "partners in progress." Earlier, Thomson had snipped a red white and blue ribbon stretched across the concrete and steel lock at Eureka.

Frustrating Years The simple act spelled fish to seven frustrating years of talking, praying, cajoling, begging and bartering, during which boating interests all along the upper Fox had fought for existence of the mobile barrier across the river.

"The very fact that this flotilla was able to make its way through the lock and on to Berlin demonstrates what cooperative effort at every level of government can accomplish," the governor said. The long fight actually was won several months ago when, countryside from Berlin to Eureka. At the lock the governor and his party boarded their large cabin craft and led the way to the lock proper. During the trip upstream, the governor talked with Col. J. B. W. Corry, Chicago, representative of the corps of engineers. Tommy, meanwhile, showed an intense interest in the steering mechanism of the boat. From the press craft it appeared the son of the state's No. 1 citizen was at the helm for at least a portion of the 6-mile trip upriver. The banks most of the way were dotted with spectators. By late afternoon it was over and all Berlin heaved a sigh of relief. The lock, at long last, was open.

Dr. Wriston Optimistic On Mideast Situation

Dr. Henry Wriston, former president of Lawrence college and of Brown university, took an optimistic position about the troubles in the Mideast in a Mike Wallace TV interview Sunday night.

He supported President Eisenhower's action in sending troops into Lebanon and the U. S. recognition of the new government in Iraq.

Wallace's attempts to brand these actions as opposite reasoning in U. S. foreign policy failed. Dr. Wriston, explaining the moral policy behind these decisions, said the Iraq rebellion was internal, while the Lebanon situation was the result of indirect aggression by communists outside the nation.

The United States does not interfere with internal problems of nations, large or small, but has carried out a policy of protection for governments threatened from outside, he told Wallace.

He said he feels the Mideast troubles will not lead to war and pointed out that the Mideast has been a trouble spot for 1,000 years. He predicted this would continue in varying degrees for another 50 years. He said the trouble will not end until all of the Arab states set up governments which the people will support.

Dr. Wriston said the greatest weakness of U. S. foreign policy is the lack of professional ambassadors in the most important capitals of the world.

Money is at the root of this trouble, he stated. A president now has to make his appointments from among rich men, often without experience, who can afford to take the jobs. This situation can be cured by an additional $5,000,000 to cover expenses of state department professions, Dr. Wriston said.

English Architecture Subject of Display

The style of the Paine building was based on many of these lithographs and some of them show marginal notes in Paine's handwriting calling attention to items desirable or to be avoided.

Firemen, Neighbors Work to Save Modern Barn Near Shiocton

Shiocton — The Shiocton Volunteer fire department and farm neighbors helped save the modern barn on the Ralph Gehring farm, route 1, Shiocton, Sunday morning. Hay in the loft apparently ignited by spontaneous combustion.

Holes were burned in the loft floor and some sections of the siding were removed so firemen and neighbors could remove about 30 tons of hay. There was considerable smoke damage.

The barn has an up-to-date milking parlor and milk cooling system. About 60 head of cattle were in the loafer barn prior to milking when the fire was discovered by the hired man about 7:10 Sunday morning.

The Gehrings were not at the farm. They returned from an Eagle River resort later Sunday.

He told county police he had stolen the station wagon in Madison to drive to Shawano

The WSES manager explained that the contest is open to all high school juniors and seniors. Cash prizes total $2,550 and include trips to Washington, D. C. The state contest usually closes Feb. 15.

Coppers Pace Market Drop

Pressure on Metals Due to Subsidy Bill Fight

New York — Coppers and other nonferrous metals paced a stock market decline early this afternoon in fairly active trading.

Key stocks fell from fractions to well over a point.

Pressure was on the base metals group because of expectations that the half-billion-dollar mineral subsidy bill will face formidable opposition when it is considered by the house Tuesday.

Chemicals also backed away considerably in a resumption of their retreat on Friday when the whole market reacted to the boost in the discount rate by the San Francisco Federal Reserve bank.

The steels were unchanged to slightly lower. Motors, rubbers, aircrafts, rails and utilities were among the losers.

Continues Drop

Kennecott, which was clipped for a 34-point loss Friday, dropped well over a point. Anaconda, American Smelting and Phelps Dodge were off about a point while Miami Copper extended its decline past the point mark.

A similar loss was shown by International Nickel, selling ex-dividend.

Aluminums also were hit, Alcoa and Reynolds Metals falling a point or so.

Du Pont retreated well over two. Union Carbide and Allied Chemical each fell more than a point. Jones & Laughlin was a one-point loser. Widening Zenith fell more than three.

Other losers of about a point included Goodrich, Curtiss-Wright, Commonwealth Edison and Eastern Air Lines.

U. S. government bonds rose fractionally.

Yacht Club Offers To Pay Up 25-Year Lease on City Land

The Appleton Yacht club today offered to pay the city $25, enough to pay up its $1 a year lease for city river frontage it occupies, Commodore Harold Haak said.

Mayor Clarence A. Mitchell said the lease evidently has remained unpaid for some time and will have to be checked before the club offer is accepted.

Motor Vehicle Chiefs Seek Meeting With City

State motor vehicle department officials today asked the city for a meeting of the national safety council's analysis of traffic safety activities in the city during 1957.

R. Salisbury, department director, said he would like to have the meeting at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Aug. 28. His letter probably will be read at Wednesday night's council meeting and be forwarded to the public safety committee.

Chill Wind Gives Hint Of Future

Cool northeast breezes this morning gave the Fox Cities a hint of things to come.

The mercury dropped to an overnight low of 47 and, about 7 o'clock when many people were driving to work, the temperature held at 50 degrees—chilly compared with recent readings.

Skies were clear throughout most of the state, with readings generally below normal. Highest temperature in the Fox Cities Sunday was 78. At 11 o'clock this morning it was 68.

Forecasters say it will become partly cloudy and a little cooler tonight and Tuesday. Low tonight will range from the 40s and 50s to 60.

According to the Associated Press Lake Geneva was the warmest community in the state Sunday with a peak of 86 with other maximums ranging down to 75 at Green Bay.

Early today the mercury dropped to the 40s and low 50s. Mather recorded a chilly 39, but the low at Beloit was only 56.

National temperature extremes were 107 at Presidio, Tex., Sunday and 38 at Grand Marais and Pellston, Mich., early today.

From the left in the front row are Dick Schaffer and Larry Lundy playing snare drums, Don Grutzmacher and Jack Hussey playing tenor drums and Tom Moder playing a bass drum. Spanish Songs Become Familiar As Drum and Bugle Corps Practices

BY MICHELE MATHEWS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

People living within a few blocks of Appleton High school are used to hearing the strains of "The Rain in Spain" about one evening a week during the summer.

It's the Americanos drum and bugle corps rehearsing. And it's also heard by residents in the areas of Franklin school, Edison school, Roosevelt Junior High school, Jones and Arbutus parks and the American Legion clubhouse. The corps still may be known as the Sons of the American Legion, its name from its beginning in 1936 until 1955. At least 60 per cent of the corps members had to be sons of Legion members to take part in legion competition.

This is the first in a 2-part series on the Americanos, drum and bugle corps sponsored by the Appleton American Legion post.

Corps competition since 1936 has been noteworthy. It has chalked up 13 first places in state legion contests, including those of the last eight years. The most recent victory was at the LaCrosse legion convention competition July 26, when its color guard also placed third in a field of five.

In 1955 the corps became the Americanos. This year it became legion-sponsored, under Johnston-Blessman post No. 38, and there are no long-

Ken Gertsch took his place as director.

The first uniforms worn by corps members included white blouses, black navy pants and berets. In 1937 the present uniform was adopted. This, with a Spanish motif, consists of black satin bell-bottom trousers with red flares at the bottom, white satin blouses with full sleeves tight at the wrist, 10-foot long red sashes tied at the waist and red hats. The costumes set off red drums and chrome bugles.

Their theme is carried out in Latin American rhythms, dance steps and songs, including "South of the Border," "Brazil," "Lady of Spain," "La Paloma," "Rio Rita" and "Sorrento."

The 36 corps and seven color guard members, ranging in age from 10 to 21, practice every night for the first two weeks of the summer until their drills and music are memorized, then three nights a week for the rest of the summer. An area the size of a football field is needed for this drill.

Years of Training
Training to march with the corps takes an average of two years for buglers and three for drummers. Drill practices usually run for two and a half hours.

Six types of bugles — soprano, tenor, French horn, baritone, bass baritone and bass—with a price range of $85 to $300—are used by the corps. All have one piston valve, enabling them to play a full scale. The complete range of the bugle corps is four octaves. Six of the bugles have rotary valves and can play sharps and flats.

Austin Cotton, who will be a junior at the University of Wisconsin, is the present corps director. He also arranges the music, writes drills and maneuvers, conducts practices, instructs drills and buglers and manages the corps on trips.

Bugle arrangements are in nine parts, with about three bugles to a part. Drum music is arranged by Larry Lundy, who also instructs drummers.

Young Drum Major

The corps' drum major, 12-year-old Ronald Bixby, is the youngest ever to take the field alone in state competition. Bixby, a former tenor bugler, is in his fourth year with the corps.

Other Americanos officials are Gertsch, executive director; Donald Harris, Legion vice commander and committee chairman; John Cotton, assistant director; Kurt Kronberg, publicity director; Phil Hantschel, personnel man, and Tom Baurain, equipment manager. All are from Appleton.

Until 1955 the corps marched only in parades and performed just at state legion conventions. For the last two summers, however, it has had at least one performance or competition every weekend.

As of July 27 the corps had traveled 2,200 miles and appeared in 15 cities in Wisconsin and Michigan.

An orientation day for new Americanos members will be Sept. 2. Also on the corps schedule is a contest in Appleton in August of 1959 between all top drum and bugle corps in the state. This will be field, not parade, competition and will be comparable to a three and a half or 4-hour show.

13,800 Aided By Extending Jobless Pay

Records Show Only About Half of Eligibles Applied

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—The extension of unemployment compensation voted by the legislature in June as an emergency and anti-recession measure has thus far aided about 13,800 workers.

Lawrence A. Burley, of the state unemployment compensation division, gave the report to an inquiring legislative committee.

He said that during the last year, through August 1, about 25,000 Wisconsin employees had exhausted their normal unemployment compensation eligibility — which provides benefits up to $40 a week for a maximum of 26 weeks for employees of covered employers.

The fact that only about 13,800 of them actually applied for the extended benefits—for an additional maximum period of 13 weeks at a top level of $42—shows either that the rest of them didn't make application or were re-employed, he said.
